Audience Genre Expectations in the Age of Digital Media Leo W. Jeffres, David J. Atkin, Kimberly A. Neuendorf, 2022-12-05 This volume bridges the divide between film and media studies scholarship by exploring audience expectations of film and TV genre in the age of digital streaming using qualitative thematic and quantitative data driven analyses Through four ground breaking surveys of audience members and content creators the authors have empirically determined what audiences expect of various genres the extent to which these definitions match those of scholars and critics and the overall variation and complexity of audience expectations in the age of media abundance They also examine audience habits and preferences drawing from both theory and original empirical analyses with a view toward the implications for the moving image in a rapidly changing media environment The book draws from the data to develop a number of new concepts including genre repertoire genre hybridity audience interest maximization and variety seeking and a new stage of genre development genre bending It is an ideal resource for students and scholars interested in the symbiotic relationship between audiences and the moving image products they consume as well as the way the current digital media environment has impacted our understanding of film and TV genres

Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office, 2001 Regulating the Future W.A. K. Huff, 2001-05-30 This comprehensive study examines the case of AM stereo and subsequent technologies to demonstrate the FCC's evolution from stern to reluctant regulator It also examines emerging technologies such as multichannel television sound digital audio broadcasting and high definition television and discusses their impact on the evolution of broadcast regulation In the 1980s the tension between governmental control and the marketplace resulted in the FCC's deregulation of TV and radio electing to set only technical operating parameters and allowing legal operation of any system that meets those minimal standards Huff argues that this approach is likely to influence regulatory approaches to other new developments in broadcast technologies The extensive overview of the industry and the study of the interrelationships between the technologies will appeal to communication scholars in the fields of radio and television as well as interest industry professionals
