Old Celtic Romances Various Authors, Among the Celtic people of Ireland and the north west of Scotland story telling has always been a favourite amusement In the olden time they had professional story tellers variously designated according to rank ollaves shanachies fil s bards etc whose duty it was to know by heart a number of old tales poems and historical pieces and to recite them at festive gatherings for the entertainment of the chiefs and their guests These story tellers were always well received at the houses of princes and chiefs and treated with much consideration and on occasions when they acquitted themselves well so as to draw down the applause of the audience they were often rewarded with costly presents To meet the demand for this sort of entertainment ingenious men of learning taking legends or historical events as themes composed stories from time to time of which those that struck the popular fancy were caught up and remembered and handed down from one generation of story tellers to another In course of time a body of romantic literature grew up consisting chiefly of prose tales which were classified according to subject into Battles Voyages Tragedies Military Expeditions Cattle Raids Courtships Pursuits Adventures Visions etc Some of these tales were historical i e founded on historical events and corresponded closely with what is now called the historical romance while others were altogether fictitious pure creations of the imagination But it is to be observed that even in the fictitious tales the main characters are always historical or such as were considered so The old ollaves wove their fictions round Conor Mac Nessa and his Red Branch Knights or Finn and his Fena or Luga of the Long Arms and his Dedannans or Conn the Hundred fighter or Cormac Mac Art like the Welsh legends of Arthur and his Round Table or the Arabian romances of Haroun al Raschid and his Court The greater number of the tales were as I have said in prose But some were in poetry and in many of the prose tales the leading characters are often made to express themselves in verse or some striking incident of the story is repeated in a poetical form Not unfrequently the fragments of verse introduced into a prose tale are quotations from an older poetical version of the same tale and hence it often happens that while the prose may be plain enough the poetry is often archaic and obscure
