Exceeds Expectations		Meets Expectations		Below Expectations
Guts: Courageous, bold, and risk-taking
Academics	• I am not afraid to take challenging classes. • I am always looking to push myself harder and explore new and different academic opportunities. • I go above and beyond in school and at College Track to get the best grades and do my best work possible.	• I take some challenging classes and takes new opportunities when offered. • I always want to get the best grade possible.	• I take only the bare minimum classes in order to graduate, and usually avoid new academic opportunities • My goal is to pass with a C
Leadership	• I invigorate others with my energy and enthusiasm for all events and have an active interest in positive risk-taking.	• I am interested and enthusiastic about participating in all events, and am willing to take risks if the results will be positive.	• I hesitate or refuse to participate in events, either academic or social; I don't like to take risks, even though the result might be positive.
College	• I take challenging classes in college, and I'm not afraid to try new things or learn about new subjects. • I seek social and academic resources to boost my confidence and I engage in positive risk-taking. • I actively seek activities that will push my boundaries and comfort levels.	• If I am presented with them, I engage in some social and academic resources • I participate in some activities that push comfort levels	• I don't participate in or even actively avoid activities that push my boundaries or comfort levels. • I am slow to reach out for social or academic resources when needed.
Resilience: Tough, reflective, and persistent
Academics	• I actively look for resources and support to get through challenging classes or academic struggles (I ask for help without prompting) • I reflect on and understand my own academic strengths and weaknesses and actively attempt to find ways to practice and improve on them.	• I accept when others offer me resources and support when attempting to get through challenging classes or academic endeavors. • With someone's help, I can reflect on my academic weaknesses and strengths and how to practice and improve, but don't know how to do this on my own.	• I am unwilling/unable to accept support to deal with my academic challenges. • I don't want to reflect on academic strengths and weaknesses and don't want to try new strategies to practice or improve.
Leadership	• I encourage others to see the positive in their challenges. I support my peers by helping them reflect and see their struggles as a chance to learn.	• I encourage others not to give up when they are feeling challenged or struggling. I can be a support for my peers/friends.	• I don't offer support to others when they are struggling or feeling challenged, and don't help them see their challenges as a learning experience.
College	• I put my absolute maximum effort into every single thing I do. • I respond to setbacks as learning experiences, and try again!	• I put strong effort into all most of what I do. I see my setbacks as learning experiences and look for support when I need it.	• I don't really put effort into my tasks, and sometimes I don't complete them. I don't see setbacks as learning experiences or find support to help me try again.

San Francisco Public Schools Rubrics:

Rubric Nation Michelle Tenam-Zemach, Joseph E. Flynn, 2015-04-01 What is a rubric and how are they being used in teacher education and evaluation When did rubrics become ubiquitous in the field of education What impact do rubrics have on students teachers teacher educators and the educational enterprise This book is an edited volume of essays that critically examine the phenomenon of rubrics in teacher education evaluation and education more broadly Rubrics have seen a dramatic rise in use and presence over the past twenty five years in colleges of education and districts across the country Although there is a wealth of literature about how to make rubrics there is scant literature that explores the strengths and weaknesses of rubrics and the impact the rubric phenomenon is having in reshaping education The chapters included in this edited volume will critically reflect on the contemporary contexts of rubrics and the uses and impact of rubrics in education Since rubrics have become indelible in education it is necessary for a fuller nuanced discussion of the phenomenon Creating a book that explores these aspects of rubrics is timely and fundamental to expanding the discourse on this ubiquitous evaluation tool This book is not meant to be a series of chapters dedicated to best practices for creating rubrics nor is this text meant to present all sides of the rubric discussion Rather this text intends to offer critical polemics about rubrics that can spur greater critical discussion about a phenomenon in education that has largely been unquestioned in the literature

Trusting Teachers with School Success Kim Farris-Berg, Edward J. Dirks, Amy Junge, 2013 Lately our nation's strategy for improving our schools is mostly limited to getting tough with teachers Blaming teachers for poor outcomes we spend almost all of our energy trying to control teachers behavior and school operations But what if all of this is exactly the opposite of what is needed What if teachers are the answer and not the problem What if trusting teachers and not controlling them is the key to school success Examining the experiences of teachers who are already trusted to call the shots this book answers What would teachers do if they had the autonomy not just to make classroom decisions but to collectively with their colleagues make the decisions influencing whole school success Decisions such as school curriculum how to allocate the school budget and whom to hire Teachers with decision making authority create the schools that many of us profess to want They individualize learning Their students are active not passive learners who gain academic and life skills The teachers create school cultures that are the same as those in high performing organizations They accept accountability and innovate and make efficient use of resources These promising results suggest it is time to trust teachers
