More Like Life Itself Cory Wright-Maley, 2018-10-01 John Dewey wrote in multiple places that education should be an experience of the content and processes of life itself Too often social studies is taught in a way that tells students about real life but fails to engage them in the process of life for which Dewey advocated The core purpose of simulations is to reflect the processes events and phenomena expressed in a variety of real life domains They engage students in these reflections of real life meaningfully as active agents who have the power to make decisions that impact the direction of events and that lead to both intended and unintended consequences Because of the nature of simulations students who participate in them are able to build their capacities to think in complex and critical ways Today despite the growing evidence that simulations have an important role to play in the teaching of social studies they remain an underutilized and undervalued approach to the discipline One of the key obstacles to their widespread adoption is the limited availability of training resources available to social studies teachers Teachers need support to develop a new vision of social studies teaching and learning coupled with practical guidance necessary to implement simulations effectively This volume provides teachers with both When teachers are able to weave simulations effectively into the fabric of social studies teaching and learning they help to promote social studies experiences that are both powerful and purposeful They offer students an experience of the discipline that is indeed More Like Life Itself

Schools of Opportunity Adam York, Kevin Welner, Linda Molner Kelley, 2023 Schools of Opportunity builds an argument for shifting the way that excellent schools are recognized and built The National Education Policy Center s

Schools of Opportunity project was designed to highlight public high schools that are using research based practices for closing opportunity gaps in student learning The project recognizes schools working to address the needs of all students whether or not those schools have high average test scores This approach thus embraces a shift away from the nation's myopic focus on outcomes This follows from research findings that schools alone cannot fix the problems created by the stark inequalities in our society Instead schools should be expected to do their part by responding to inequities with research based practices With these shifts in mind this book provides case studies of schools that demonstrate key criteria that other schools can emulate such as an inclusive school climate support for language minority students performance based assessment teacher professionalism a commitment to detracking and supports for students in need Book Features Provides accounts of school reform jointly told by researcher practitioner teams connecting current research with successful efforts of educators to create outstanding learning environments Brings together the voices of principals and school leaders who share stories of how their work has unfolded in their school district and state contexts Identifies the school leadership and teacher practices that close opportunity gaps for student learning and what it takes to implement them Resources in Education, 1996 Literature in Language Education G. Hall, 2005-09-08 A state of the art critical review of research into literature in language education of interest to teachers of English and of modern foreign languages There are prompts and principles for those who wish to improve their own practice or to engage in projects or research in this area The primary focus is on language of literature reading of literature literature as culture and literature in education International Commerce, 1966

Postmodern Literature and Race Len Platt, Sara Upstone, 2015-02-19 Postmodernism Literature and Race explores the question of how dramatic shifts in conceptions of race in the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries have been addressed by writers at the cutting edge of equally dramatic transformations of literary form An opening section engages with the broad question of how the geographical and political positioning of experimental writing informs its contribution to racial discourses while later segments focus on central critical domains within this field race and performativity race and the contemporary nation and postracial futures With essays on a wide range of contemporary writers including Bernadine Evaristo Alasdair Gray Jhumpa Lahiri Andrea Levy and Don DeLillo this volume makes an important contribution to our understanding of the politics and aesthetics of contemporary writing Creating Citizens Sarah Cooper, 2017-09-27 Engage students in meaningful civic learning and encourage them to become active and informed citizens With this essential book co published by Routledge and MiddleWeb you will gain a variety of practical strategies for teaching civics and current events to your middle school students Author and expert teacher Sarah Cooper takes you into her school and shares her classroom tested methods and tools Topics include Fitting current events into an already packed history curriculum Staying nonpartisan and fostering balanced discussions Helping students find their stake in the news Teaching civic literacy through primary sources then and now Encouraging students to invest in analytical writing Fostering student ownership of our classrooms through discussion and debate Cultivating citizenship through empathy and community engagement Throughout the book you ll find student examples handouts and rubrics so that you can easily implement the ideas in your own classroom By getting your students to think critically about current events you will help them become passionate writers thinkers and involved citizens
