Everyday Maths Through Everyday Provision Elaine Bennett,Jenny Weidner,2012-03-15 Children are born naturally mathematical so why is it sometimes so difficult to observe children being mathematical Why do so many of us think we are bad at maths and how does this subconsciously affect the provision experiences and opportunities we provide for young children who are starting their mathematical learning journey This easily accessible book will help you to realise the wonderful mathematical learning happening in your setting all day and every day through the familiar resources and experiences routinely offered to young children It will help you to think more reflectively about what you are providing for children and suggest ways of making provision richer and more exciting for you and the children in your care With chapters linked to areas of continuous provision including sand water dough role play music outdoors and ICT among many others this book features A wide range of activities including key questions vocabulary and advice on observations Lists of key resources Ideas to support children s mathematical mark making Useful links to stories and rhymes to engage children and promote mathematical learning Links to other areas of learning and development Suggestions for involving parents Providing a wealth of exciting meaningful play based ways to promote mathematical learning and create a maths rich environment this highly practical book will help you to develop young children s confidence and enjoyment of maths through your everyday provision It is a perfect resource for Early Years Practitioners working in all settings as well as those studying on childcare Early Childhood and Early Years Professional Status courses Educating Young Children through Natural Water Judit Horvath,2015-10-08 Coastlines rivers and natural waters have a huge amount to offer young children providing a unique environment for their learning and development The environment and its almost daunting size touches something deep within the children and surprisingly the large space brings them closer together This book provides a comprehensive guide to Natural Water School provision by exploring its special pedagogy the organisation and management of the Water School session and discussing the learning environment and its implications for children's wellbeing and development. It clearly explains the key principles of this recently developed contemporary approach and sets out a framework for setting up and leading a Natural Water School programme. The book shows how the aims and outcomes of early years education including the Early Years Foundation Stage can all be achieved within the Natural Water School environment and is supported by examples and case studies throughout. Full of practical suggestions and activities it includes Activity ideas covering topics such as wildlife sensory activities, crafts, social development, physical play and construction in different seasons. Unique teaching tools to observe and develop the children. Ideas for working with children of different ages and learning styles. Detailed guidance on health and safety including risk assessments. Offering a sound historical background, a solid pedagogical framework and a step by step guide to Natural Water School practice, this handy text will help students and practitioners to fully understand this new and increasingly popular approach to early years education and how it can benefit the children they care for.
