Sovereign Credit Rating Ahmed Naciri, 2016-12-19. The current degradation of sovereign balance sheets raises very real concerns about how sovereign creditworthiness is measured by credit rating agencies. Given the disastrous economic and social effects of any downgrade, the book offers an alternative and calls for more transparency about the quantitative measures used in calibrating the rating process and how sovereign ratings are validated. It argues that oversight is required and procedures improved, including subjecting methodologies of assessing default to more standardization and monitoring. Sovereign Credit Rating explains the process of sovereign creditworthiness assessment and explores the consequences of possible inaccuracies in the process. Developing an innovative new methodology to assess ratings' accuracy, it shows that the announcement of each rating action by the major credit rating agencies shows alarming inconsistencies. Dettlaff provides evidence of the vast harms that result from family separations and placement in foster care to make a case that the child welfare system is beyond reform. Rather, the only solution to ending this harm is complete abolition of the child welfare system and a fundamental reimagining of the way society cares for children and families.

Dolmage, 2017-11-22 Academic Ableism brings together disability studies and institutional critique to recognize the ways that disability is composed in and by higher education and rewrites the spaces times and economies of disability in higher education to place disability front and center For too long argues Jay Timothy Dolmage disability has been constructed as the antithesis of higher education often positioned as a distraction a drain a problem to be solved The ethic of higher education encourages students and teachers alike to accentuate ability valorize perfection and stigmatize anything that hints at intellectual mental or physical weakness even as we gesture toward the value of diversity and innovation Examining everything from campus accommodation processes to architecture to popular
