ALLUSIONS IN MYTHOLOGY MIDAS TOUCH

King Midas was a kind man who was rewarded by the god Dionysus. Midas was granted one wish, so he asked to be able to turn anything he touched into gold. Little did he know that this would be his undoing. He soon discovered that even his food or water turned it into gold, making him unable to eat or drink. King Midas begged Dionysus to withdraw the power of his golden touch, and he did. Today, if someone is said to have the "Midas touch," that means they can make money no matter what they do. This story of King Midas is a warning to be careful about what you wish for.

ALLUSIONS IN MYTHOLOGY ACHILLES HEEL

Achilles was a great Greek warrior. When he was born, his mother wanted him to be invincible. She dipped him in the River Styx, but she forgot to dip his heel. Achilles was invincible everywhere except for his heel. He was killed by a Greek warrior who shot an arrow into his heel.

ALLUSIONS IN MYTHOLOGY PANDORA'S BOX

Pandora was a woman who had everything she wanted. She was given a box and warned not to open it. However, Pandora was curious and opened it anyway. When she opened the box, she released pain and suffering into the world. Today, when we say "opening Pandora's box," we mean doing something that could be undone and cause problems. Pandora's story is a reminder that being curious is not always good. Just because we want to know something does not mean we should do it without thinking about what could happen first.
