

Power Module

The Power Module supplies power to the Digital Module and contains voltage sensing transformers and relays. These modules also hold interface circuits for the transfer switch including position sensing switches and relay drivers. 10 VDC rectification and regulation circuits on this module are powered by both sources through transformers T1 and T2.

The Power Module contains eight transformers.

- Each source (1 and 2) uses three transformers. Source 1 and 2 voltages are sensed by transformers T1 and T2.

Both sources are connected A:N, B:N and C:N except for 120 volt switches. For 120 volt switches, connect A:N for 2-wire, and AN:CN for 3 wire single phase systems.

- The remaining two transformers are used to power the 10 VDC supply on the module. One transformer is connected to Source 1 and the other to Source 2 (Figure 2-12).

Power Modules contain six pilot relays defined as:

- K12 Neutral to Source 1
- K13 Source 2 to Neutral
- K14 Neutral to Source 2
- K15 Source1 to Neutral
- K16 Not Used
- K17 Not Used

CAUTION Improper voltage can result in equipment damage. Replacement Power Modules on all BTPC transfer switches of 1000 amps or less must have jumpers J18 and J19 cut prior to installation.

Control Plate

The Control Plate contains two transformers; one for Emergency supply and one for Normal supply (Figure 2-13).

On 150-1000 Amp switches, relays K1 through K7 control the opening and closing of various switches.
