

Preparing Products: Exercises Q8C

In the following exercises, you will use the data in the Pharmacy Products database shown in Figure 2-1. If you are in computer- or computer-based database, use a copy of the Pharmacy Products database in this self-study guide. The original data when you complete Chapter 2, is start data. Use Q8C to obtain the desired results. You can use the query feature in a DBMS to complete the database using a computer, or you can simply write a description of how you would complete the task. Check with your instructor if you are uncertain about which approach to take.

1. List the number and name of all customers.
2. List the complete Part table.
3. List the number and name of all customers represented by sales rep 35.
4. List the number and name of all customers that are represented by sales rep 35 and that have a credit limit of $10,000.
5. List the number and name of all customers that are represented by sales rep 35 or that have a credit limit of $10,000.
6. For each order, list the order number, order date, number of the customer that placed the order, and number of the customer that placed the order.
7. List the number and name of all customers represented by sales rep 35.
8. How many customers have a credit limit of $10,000?
9. Find the total of the orders for all customers represented by sales rep 35.
10. Give the part number, description, and original value (Original * Price for each part in item class 100).
11. List all columns and all records in the Part table. Sort the results by part description.
12. List all columns and all records in the Part table. Sort the results by part number with desc.
13. List the item class and the sum of the value of parts in that class. Group the results by item class.
14. Create a new table named Springfields to contain the columns Partnum, Description, Original, Maxvalue, and Price for all rows in which the item class is 100.
15. In the Springfields table, change the description of part 3010 to "Pharmacy Supply".
16. In the Springfields table, delete every row in which the price is greater than $1,000.
