Space, Time, and Geometry Patrick Suppes, 1973-12-31 The articles in this volume have been stimulated in two different ways More than two years ago the editor of Synthese Jaakko Hintikka announced a special issue devoted to space and time and articles were solicited Part of the reason for that announcement was also the second source of papers Several years ago I gave a seminar on special relativity at Stanford and the papers by Domotor Harrison Hudgin Latzer and myself partially arose out of discussion in that seminar All of the papers except those of

Griinbaum Fine the second paper of Friedman and the paper of Adams appeared in a special double issue of Synthese 24 1972 Nos 1 2 I am pleased to have been able to add the four additional papers mentioned in making the special issue a volume in the Synthese Library Of these four additional articles only the one by Fine has pre viously appeared in print Synthese 22 1971 448 481 its relevance to the present volume is apparent In preparing the papers for publication and in carrying out the various editorIal chores of such a task I am very much indebted to Mrs Lillian O Toole for her extensive assistance

INTRODUCTION The philosophy of space and time has been of permanent importance in philosophy and most of the major historical figures in philosophy such as Aristotle Descartes and Kant have had a good deal to say about the nature of space and time Psychology in Learning and Instruction Patricia A. Alexander,2006 This book introduces future educators and researchers to several different psychological perspectives and uses these perspectives to introduce key issues such as knowledge acquisition and transfer strategic process and student motivation As an editor and reviewer of the top journals in the field the author is able to present the latest research in language that is accessible and understandable Unlike other books that are organized around theoretical topics valued by psychologists it is organized around education problems and issues deemed important by educators Papers for the Conference on the Teaching of Modern Physics ,1986
