

Precious Memories

You might call this one a southern-western spiritual. It's another one of those special numbers, one that is usually performed for the congregation rather than by it. It is almost always sung by a male quartet, and when we recorded it, we had the Jordanares right there on hand to make it sound right. Hymns are often concerned with memories, and this one is about loved ones who are gone: "Precious memories, how they linger, how they ever flood my soul. . . ." These are wonderful memories about Mother and Father, who are gone from you now. But the hymn brings great satisfaction because it reminds you that you know where they are, and that all is well.
