Principles of Economics Arthur Louis Faubel,1923 Expository Discourse in Children, Adolescents, and Adults Marilyn A. Nippold,Cheryl M. Scott,2013-03-07 School success in the 21st century requires proficiency with expository discourse the use and understanding of informative language in spoken and written modalities This occurs for example when high school students read their textbooks and listen to their teachers lectures and later are asked to demonstrate their knowledge of this complex topic through oral reports and essay examinations Although many students are proficient with the expository genre others struggle to meet these expectations This book is designed to provide information on the use and understanding of expository discourse in school age children adolescents and young adults Recently researchers from around the world have been investigating the development of this genre in typical students and in those with language disorders Although many books have addressed the development of conversational and narrative discourse by comparison books devoted to the topic of expository discourse are sparse This crossdisciplinary volume fills that gap in the literature and makes a unique contribution to the study of language development and disorders It will be of interest to a range of professionals including speech language pathologists teachers linguists and psychologists who are concerned with language development and disorders

Does God Make a Difference? Warren Nord,2010-11-10 Most public schools avoid teaching their students about religion and university students must enroll in religious studies courses in order to learn about it Warren Nord shows that these practices are not religiously neutral in fact they border on secular indoctrination Nord uses an examination of textbooks to make a case for the study of religion in schools and universities and explains how such study came to be neglected He puts forward a number of arguments for taking religion seriously in the curriculum most importantly that a liberal education and critical thinking require it

Third Series* Library of Congress. Copyright Office,1968 Education pamphlets ,1926 Econometric Modeling in Economic Education Research William E. Becker Jr.,Rolf A. Walstad,2012-12-06 Since its establishment in the 1950s the American Economic Association's Committee on Economic Education has sought to promote improved instruction in economics and to facilitate this objective by stimulating research on the teaching of economics. These efforts are most apparent in the sessions on economic education that the Committee organizes at the Association's annual meetings. At these sessions economists interested in economic education have opportunities to present new ideas on teaching and research and also to report the findings of their research. The record of this activity can be found in the Proceedings of the American Economic Review. The Committee on Economic Education and its members have been actively involved in a variety of other projects. In the early 1960s it organized the National Task Force on Economic Education that spurred the development of economics teaching at the precollege level. This in turn led to the development of a standardized research instrument, a high school test of economic understanding. This was followed later in the 1960s by the preparation of a similar test of understanding college economics. The development of these two instruments greatly facilitated research on the impact of economics instruction, opened the way for application of increasingly sophisticated statistical methods in measuring the impact of economic education and initiated a steady stream of research papers on a subject that previously had not been explored.

Understanding Policy Domains their Salient Forces and Organisational Challenges Tapera O. Chirawu, 2012. Understanding Policy Domains their Salient Forces and Organisational Challenges examines the complexity of policy making processes within the context of human action arising from culture, life necessities and politics. It provides an understanding of human environmental and institutional behaviour and identifies the policy factors that underline the success or failure of governments and institutions. This book provides policy makers, practitioners and other researchers in the field with a clear understanding of the process of policy making and who is responsible for what. It sets the tone for academics and policy practitioners to confront the problems and challenges that countries face as they seek to improve governance and service delivery. The author provokes debate on the cause and effect of past, present and future human actions, bringing into play the issues of honesty, transparency and political will. He promotes policy as a way towards achieving social harmony in the human struggle for survival. User friendly for both students and lecturers as well as for researchers, government and NGO policy gurus. Understanding Policy Domains their Salient Forces and Organisational Challenges is also valuable for political parties whose members are often unaware of this important aspect of government responsibility.
