Scenes of Clerical Life George Eliot, 2021-04-03 Shepperton Church was a very different looking building five and twenty years ago To be sure its substantial stone tower looks at you through its intelligent eye the clock with the friendly expression of former days but in everything else what changes Now there is a wide span of slated roof flanking the old steeple the windows are tall and symmetrical the outer doors are resplendent with oak graining the inner doors reverentially noiseless with a garment of red baize and the walls you are convinced no lichen will ever again effect a settlement on they are smooth and innutrient as the summit of the Rev Amos Barton's head after ten years of baldness and supererogatory soap Pass through the baize doors and you will see the nave filled with well shaped benches understood to be free seats while in certain eligible corners less directly under the fire of the clergyman's eye there are pews reserved for the Shepperton gentility Ample galleries are supported on iron pillars and in one of them stands the crowning glory the very clasp or aigrette of Shepperton church adornment namely an organ not very much out of repair on which a collector of small rents differentiated by the force of circumstances into an organist will accompany the alacrity of your departure after the blessing by a sacred minuet or an easy Gloria

Sir Roger Newdigate Sir Christopher Cheverel Nuneaton became Milby Shepperton Church described in detail in The Sad Fortunes of the Reverend Amos Barton is recognisably that at Chilvers Coton Further the scandal attached to the curate of Chilvers Coton whose wife was an intimate friend of the young Mary Ann Evans mother became the story of Amos Barton Likewise Janet s Repentance was largely based on events that took place in Nuneaton when the young Mary Anne Evans was at school and which were recounted to her by her friend and mentor Maria Lewis Mr Tryan is an idealised version of the evangelical curate John Edmund Jones who died when Evans was aged twelve the Dempsters seem to have been based on the lawyer J W Buchanan and his wife Nancy Tryan s main area of concern Paddiford Common hardly recognisable as a common at all is similarly based on a real life location Stockingford
