Pasadena A Mystery And A History You Can Explore:

Pasadena Dan McLaughlin, 2015-01-04 The genesis in this book was when the head of the Children's Department at the Pasadena Public Library asked the local history librarian at the library to put together a brief little handout for fourth graders doing their state mandated local history project. He really didn't do that. This book reflects his belief that children who can endlessly discuss Minecraft have the ability to use the computer to solve real problems and the best way to engage students of any age is through questions where they are provided the tools to answer but not necessarily the answers themselves to questions. History is best experienced as a mystery to be solved not as a series of facts to be memorized. As the local history librarian for the past 25 years, the author has access to the design and content of two local history databases: the Pasadena Digital History Collaborative and the Pasadena News Index, and this book is basically an extended tutorial on researching local history through these and other local history databases. Overall, the first few chapters go over how to research Pasadena starting with the individual and how one can learn about one's self, house, family, and neighborhood in Pasadena using the computer and from the privacy of your home or classroom. There is also a discussion of what might indicate when the computer is telling the user something that seems wrong or misleading and what techniques exist to determine what is the truth of the matter. Then, using those research techniques, one is introduced to more specific parts of Pasadena's History: Its Buildings, Neighborhoods, Rose Parade, Crime, Women, Pasadena at War, Sports, Ethnic Communities, Visitors, Churches, Creative Communities, Economy, Schools, and finally Government. There are also Suggested Activities scattered throughout the book. These are activities that build on the subject just presented and then invite one to do something more. From comparing proposed plans of the Rose Bowl, the Civic Center, and the Arroyo Seco through their construction to their current reality, cooking recipes and exploring fashions for the past, singing songs and writing stories with a Pasadena theme, creating art or buildings in the styles of Pasadena masters, there should be an in-depth activity to appeal to the interest of anybody. Scattered throughout the text are literally hundreds of trivia facts presented in the form of a question about Pasadena that can only be answered by going online. For instance: What blemish nearly cost horse-loving Princess Cindy Gillette her spot in the 1961 Rose Parade? a. Academic b. Hair c. Moral d. Skin. Help Gillette, Cindy. This book is meant to be used in conjunction with Pasadena History Headline Quiz 690 Pasadena History Trivia Questions Taken from Pasadena Newspaper Headlines by Dan McLaughlin, which has the actual answers to the questions. While the book is rather explicit in how to search online, there are also scattered throughout the book explanations on why the search came up with the results that it did. Boolean searching, limits of the computer, advantages and disadvantages of different search strategies, and tips on using non-computer resources are all included, all in their own font, in a friendly and accessible style. By the end, and even if one skips most of the chapters, questions, and activities, the reader will have a much greater appreciation for Pasadena and its history. The reader will also have experienced the joy of a historian solving mysteries and who knows, maybe even figured out some mysteries from

Protecting Suburban America Denise Lawrence-Zuniga, 2020-06-07 Protecting Suburban America explores the dynamics and conflicts inherent in preserving historic twentieth century suburban landscapes in America Bridging architecture anthropology planning and urban studies its unique approach combines a study of historic preservation with multi sited ethnographic fieldwork to shed fascinating light on issues of heritage preservation gentrification class ethnicity and contested values in suburbia These are subjects which reach far beyond the setting of the book s focus in California to touch on topical debates in cities suburbia and gentrifying neighborhoods worldwide At the heart of the book is a detailed comparative ethnography of preservation practices and the changing landscapes of five suburban cities where affluent homeowners have begun to restore their early twentieth century houses in neighborhoods once suffering from decline Not every neighbor however shares the same aesthetic values and complex dynamics can arise The study compares experiences in five different cities and in different long term immigrant and gentrifying populations Themes revealed include homeowner restoration practices aesthetic contestations local advocacy and public policy alongside an exploration of the social construction of the historic restoration process and how homeowners construct historical meaning in their homes and neighbourhoods These are themes with consequences for national and global settings of interest wherever contested preservation aesthetics and regulations are reshaping older residential neighbourhoods and their social dynamics

Gardens for Modern Houses Beth Dunlop, 2025-04-29 Modernist style architecture remains one of the most popular in housing markets all across the US and this volume explores the full range of what is actually possible when plants and hardscape are considered as critical elements of the indoor outdoor lifestyle the movement promotes with ample inspiration for homeowners and fans of midcentury to contemporary home design A distinct garden design philosophy emerged along with modern architecture intended to complement it in specific ways Much of this is unknown to today's homeowners however and is explored fully here as interpreted by today's leading garden designers Hundreds of gorgeous contemporary photos and in depth plant information will give garden enthusiast readers inspiration and the tools to re create the planting schemes shown within bringing high design home in accessible and practical ways and truly showing how a landscape can enhance both a house's architecture and the quality of its inhabitants lives The thirty five featured gardens are from across the US and created by today's leading landscape designers including Reed Hilderbrand Mia Lehrer Wagner Hodgson Marmol Radziner Judy Kameon Elysian Landscapes Raymond Jungles and Terremoto Several homes are owned by celebrities

including Mandy Moore the founders of Vince clothing and others The New Hate Arthur Goldwag, 2012-02-07 From Birthers who claim that Barack Obama was not born in the United States to counter jihadists who believe that the Constitution is in imminent danger of being replaced with Sharia law conspiratorial beliefs have become an increasingly common feature of our public discourse In this deeply researched fascinating exploration of the ideas and rhetoric that have animated extreme mostly right wing movements throughout American history Arthur Goldwag reveals the disturbing pattern of fear mongering and demagoguery that runs through the American grain The New Hate takes readers on a surprising often shocking sometimes bizarrely amusing tour through the swamps of nativism racism and paranoid speculations about money that have long thrived on the American fringe Goldwag shows us the parallels between the hysteria about the Illuminati that wracked the new American Republic in the 1790s and the McCarthyism that roiled the 1950s and he discusses the similarities between the anti New Deal forces of the 1930s and the Tea Party movement today He traces Henry Ford's anti Semitism and the John Birch Society's Insiders back to the notorious Protocols of the Elders of Zion and he relates white supremacist nightmares about racial pollution to nineteenth century fears of papal plots The most salient feature of what I have come to call the New Hate Goldwag writes is its sameness across time and space The most depressing thing about the demagogues who tirelessly exploit it in pamphlets and books and partisan newspapers two centuries ago on Web sites electronic social networks and twenty four hour cable news today is how much alike they all turn out to be InfoWorld
