Expectations

We will arrive rested and ready to learn every day!

We will follow directions the first time they are given.

We will treat others with kindness and compassion.

We will keep our hands, feet, and bodies to ourselves.

We will use good manners such as, "please", "thank you", "yes ma'am", and "no ma'am".

We will use inside voices and walking feet when we are in the building.

We will share.

We will take turns.

We will apologize.

We will HAVE FUN!

Parents Expectation For Kindergarten:

A Survey of Parents' Expectations of Kindergarten Doris Lee Miller, 1958 A Comparison of Parent and Teacher Expectations for Children Completing Their Kindergarten Year in the Area of Language Arts and Numbers Kay Reeves Meginnis, 1961 Ready for What? M. Elizabeth Graue, 1993-01-01 This book looks at readiness from a different perspective arguing that we must move away from the readiness as child characteristic so prevalent in education and the popular press. Instead, readiness is explained as an idea constructed by parents, teachers, and children as they interact in their neighborhoods and communities. Graue describes three communities in the same school district: a middle class suburban town of professionals, a rural working class community, and a group of Hispanic working class families making their way through their children's kindergarten experiences. In each setting, the local meaning of readiness is the underlying theme in the actions taken by parents and their attitudes about their children's first public school experience. Power Engage Carlos Johnson, 2023-10-10 Gain seven strategies designed to help you engage students and families by building performance-based relationships. Drawing from research and his own experiences as an education leader, Coach Carlos Johnson shares practical guidance on how to deepen the impact of your instruction. Learn his performance-based relationships framework and how to apply it to engaged, partially engaged, and unengaged students. This book will help K-12 teachers and administrators identify their high why behind increasing student engagement and discover how to help students find their high why as well. Foster a healthy sense of cooperative competition in students that will assist them in reaching their full potential. Tailor their approach in response to the various racial, socioeconomic, and gendered factors that impact student investment. Learn how to build mutually beneficial relationships with parents that help to achieve higher educational performance, transform school culture, and reduce staff stress. Contents: Preface, Sound the Alarm That Students Must Engage, Introduction, Chapter 1: Discover the One Thing Can Change Everything, Chapter 2: Get Our Butts Out of the Way Relationship Mindsets, Chapter 3: Adopt the Classroom Coach Approach, Chapter 4: Know Your Why for Teaching, Chapter 5: Help Students Find Their High Why, Chapter 6: Foster Cooperative Competition, Chapter 7: Educate and Celebrate Parents as Partners, Chapter 8: Target Your Boys, Chapter 9: Measure Student Engagement Frequently, Chapter 10: Understand the Engagement Evidence Chain, Epilogue, References and Resources, Index. Unreserved acceptance in child's education Šmelová, Eva, The monograph by Eva Šmelová, Unreserved Acceptance in Child's Education, addresses the child's personality as an independent and distinctive existence with an emphasis on preschool age. The author presents theoretical background according to contemporary theories. The concept of the preschool child's personality is put into context with the basic factors influencing children's development. The text includes simple examples and partial outcomes of selected research studies performed by the author in recent years. The book is intended for the professional community and students of teaching. Recent Perspectives on Preschool Education and Care, 2024-01-24 The preschool period is a period in which children investigate and try to get to know their environment are willing to communicate with their environment and begin to acquire the value judgments of the society they live in and the behaviors and habits appropriate to the cultural structure of that society In this period when the foundations of personality are laid the child needs conscious guidance in home school and social life By providing appropriate educational opportunities in the early years the development of children s self care mind language social emotional and motor skills can be supported In a preschool education institution that is well prepared in terms of physical conditions and educational programs the children learn to establish friendships cooperate and develop their skills Developing human potential to its highest limits is only possible with the opportunities provided in the early years This book provides a comprehensive overview of preschool education Chapters address such topics as the importance of literacy pedagogical leadership high quality preschool education and preschool improvement practices They also discuss the role of theater in childhood education and community approaches to funding and support Furthermore the book examines childhood obesity connecting home school and communities childcare social enterprises teacher quality and professional development motor cognitive nutritional metabolic and epigenetic influences on early childhood and instructional and interactional aspects of childhood education

Parental Engagement and Early Childhood Education Around the World Susanne Garvis, Sivanes Phillipson, Heidi Harju-Luukkainen, Alicja Renata Sadownik, 2021-12-23 Exploring the importance of parental engagement in early childhood education this book delves into research and practices in 25 countries to bring students researchers teachers and policy makers insights into working families around the world The incorporation and consideration of parental engagement and involvement in early childhood education are a new phenomenon to many countries. Yet increasing research recognises the importance of parental engagement and involvement in early childhood education services and the role both parents and teachers play to support children's learning and development. Using a range of materials from curriculum to policy documents, Garvis et al demonstrate differences in practices and terminologies pertaining to the topic and provide an international perspective on the importance of parental involvement and engagement in early childhood education services. The content covers a range of countries as well as countries beyond an Anglo Saxon perspective. The different policy settings across these countries highlight how countries work with and involve parents differently, which is useful for jurisdictions where early childhood education is a developing aspect of a country's education system. Looking at cultural influences, partnership approaches, parental collaboration, institutional dominance and child involvement in parent meetings, the content offers readers real understanding of parental engagement and involvement in different settings. The readership includes students in early childhood education and researchers, teachers, policy makers and general members of the public interested in parental engagement or involvement in early childhood education across the globe.
