

Learning Objectives Given what Earth Science and Life Science say, the student is expected to take notes on how birth, spread of population, geographic area, habitat size, and the relationship of birth rate, death rate, and growth rate.

Types of Population Dynamics		Process	Impact
Exponential Growth		An organism is introduced into a homogeneous environment containing unlimited resources
Logistic Growth	Phase 1	An organism is introduced into a homogeneous environment containing unlimited resources
	Phase 2	Resource limited
	Phase 3	Self-regulating within the environment is reached

Lesson Summary

Describing Populations

Basic Statistics Basic statistics study population. Ecologists study population growth, birth, death, age, sex, density, and distribution, and the environment.

Change after Change They give us a population size study of the geographic range of population change, including migration. For example, the population of humans is a large number, a positive value, and it grows. They will be more noticeable a population of this size but it may change over time. The population may grow or shrink over time.

Growth Rate The number of organisms in a population change over time, or a rate of growth. The population number can grow rapidly when the growth rate is high, but it can slow down when the growth rate is low.
