Plantation Pedagogy Bayley J. Marquez, 2024-02-06 Throughout the nineteenth and twentieth centuries teachers administrators and policymakers fashioned a system of industrial education that attempted to transform Black and Indigenous peoples and land This form of teaching what Bayley J Marquez names plantation pedagogy was built on the claim that slavery and land dispossession are fundamentally educational Plantation pedagogy and the formal institutions that encompassed it were thus integrally tied to enslavement settlement and their inherent violence toward land and people Marquez investigates how proponents developed industrial education domestically and then spread the model abroad as part of US imperialism A deeply thoughtful and arresting work Plantation Pedagogy sits where Black and Native studies meet in order to understand our interconnected histories and theorize our collective futures Journal of a Dissenter Chris Wright, 2025-01-20 This is a lengthy intellectual journal by a political radical that ranges over a variety of subjects such as Marxism capitalism history many schools of modern philosophy psychology economics and contemporary American politics It also includes quite a few personal passages but I've kept those only because they express common experiences and youthful psychological tendencies Its most useful content for students might be its many summaries of good historical and scientific scholarship especially in the journal's second half Ultimately the document is a fairly comprehensive expression of a particular society as refracted through an inquisitive and critical mind from the ages of 15 to 44 International Educational and Cultural Exchange United States Advisory Commission on International Educational and Cultural Affairs, 1970 Justice of the Peace and Local Government Review, 1878 Injustice, Violence, and Peace H.P.P.
