

Friendship In Of Mice And Men

How does having a companion affect one's life? In terms of having emotional stability, there is one thing in life that is needed, which is friends. Throughout the novel Of Mice and Men, John Steinbeck reveals that "a guy needs somebody." Without friends people suffer with loneliness and solitude, like most men on the ranch. The intelligent but also weak George, and the playful but strong Lennie have a friendship that is rather for both their mutual benefits. They each rely on each other's strengths which allows them to bring out the best in themselves.

George and Lennie's friendship is one that sets them apart. They are distinguished from all other characters in the story because they have each other to look after. When they arrive at the ranch many are confused and quite baffled as to why there are two men traveling together and who share a bond. "Ain't many guys travel around together... I don't know why. Maybe ever'body in the whole damn world is scared of each other." (17) During this time of the Great Depression, there weren't many people who traveled together or had a companion like George and Lennie have each other. This is why their partnership confuses and surprises many men on the ranch too. After everyone was questioning George and Lennie, George told Slim the truth about their relationship. "We kinda look after each other." (18) Their relationship is not just for the sake of Lennie's survival, but for both their mutual benefits. George has a sharp mind and is able to help shade Lennie from social mishaps and the cruelties of the world, but he is very small and wiry. Lennie on the other hand is strong, and in many ways just as responsible for George as George is Lennie. George tells Lennie to never pick a fight, and as a result, Lennie is hesitant to defend himself or use his strength as a threat to others.
