At your city's lake, you see a vibrant plant community. The shoreline is lush with tall grasses, reeds, and sedges. The water is calm, reflecting the sky. In the distance, you see a line of trees. This is a typical example of a wetland ecosystem. Wetlands are important for many reasons. They provide habitat for many species of plants and animals. They also help to filter pollutants from the water. Wetlands are a valuable resource that we need to protect.

You also see a large body of water. This is a lake. Lakes are important for many reasons. They provide habitat for many species of plants and animals. They also help to regulate the climate. Lakes are a valuable resource that we need to protect.
