1. The first step in the process of developing a new product is to identify a market need. This involves conducting market research to determine what consumers want and need. Once a need is identified, the next step is to develop a concept for a product that meets that need. This is followed by creating a prototype and testing it with a small group of consumers. If the prototype is well-received, the next step is to develop a business plan and secure funding. Finally, the product is launched into the market and its success is monitored.
