Schoolhouse Shams Peter Downs, 2013 Written by a parent and school board member who first embraced many of the ideas of the modern school reform movement Schoolhouse Shams lays bare much of the mythology and misinformation that underpin many of the failed school reform policies of the last decade Many of the top strategies of the highly publicized school reform movement already have been tried out in St Louis with disastrous results Along with demonstrating the failure of school reform prescriptions to improve education the experience of St Louis demonstrates that the ideological premise of the reform movement that a focus on providing opportunities for private profit taking will necessarily improve schools is both wrong and conflicts with the ideals of democracy accountability and justice

An Age of Accountability John L. Rury, 2023-10-13 An Age of Accountability highlights the role of test based accountability as a policy framework in American education from 1970 to 2020 For more than half a century the quest to hold schools and educators accountable for academic achievement has relied almost exclusively on standardized assessment The theory of change embedded in almost all test based accountability programs held that assessment with stipulated consequences could lead to major improvements in schools This was accomplished politically by proclaiming lofty goals of attaining universal proficiency and closing achievement gaps which repeatedly failed to materialize But even after very clear disappointments no other policy framework has emerged to challenge its hegemony The American public today has little confidence in institutions to improve the quality of goods and services they provide especially in the public sector As a consequence many Americans continue to believe that accountability remains a vital necessity even if educators and policy scholars disagree

Murder Town, USA Yasser Arafat Payne, Brooklyn K. Hitchens, Darryl L. Chambers, 2023-07-14 Far too many poor Black communities struggle with gun violence and homicide The result has been the unnatural contortion of Black families and the inter generational perpetuation of social chaos and untimely death Young people are repeatedly ripped away from life by violence while many men are locked away in prisons In neighborhoods like those of Wilmington Delaware residents routinely face the pressures of violence death and incarceration Murder Town USA is thus a timely ethnography with an innovative structure the authors helped organize fifteen residents formerly involved with the streets and or the criminal justice system to document the relationship between structural opportunity and experiences with violence in Wilmington s Eastside and Southbridge neighborhoods Earlier scholars offered rich cultural analysis of violence in low income Black communities and yet this literature has mostly conceptualized violence through frameworks of personal responsibility or individual accountability And even if acknowledging the pressure of structural inequality most earlier researchers describe violence as the ultimate result of some moral failing a propensity for crime and the notion of helplessness Instead in Murder Town USA Payne Hitchens and Chamber along with their collaborative team of street ethnographers instead offer a radical re conceptualization of violence in low income Black communities by describing the penchant for violence and involvement in crime overall to be a logical resilient response to the perverse context of structural inequality

The Concept of Care in Curriculum Studies Jung-Hoon Jung, 2015-12-22 The question at the heart of the book is what might an education with self care and care for others look like Juxtaposing self understanding through the method of currere and the historical character of hakbeolism a concept indigenous to Korea referring to a kind of social status people achieve based on a shared academic background this book articulates how subjective reconstruction of self in conjunction with historical study can be transformative and how this can be extended to social change Articulating how having one s own standard can be a way of making one s life a work of art the author looks at how Korean schooling exercises coercive care disconfirmation and the whip of love for the children's own good. Emphasis is given to the internalized status of these practices in both students and teachers and to teachers and parents culpability not only in exercising but also in reproducing these practices through themselves. Going beyond describing and analysing the educational problem of academic intellectual achievement oriented education based on aggressive competition, this book suggests ways to address these issues through autobiography using the method of currere to reconstruct one's subjectivity and an ethic of care. New York Standard Civil Practice Service Desk Book New York (State), 2009

Mislabeled as Disabled Kalman R. Hettelman, 2019-03-14. Kalman R. Buzzy Hettelman exposes the educational abuse suffered by tens of millions of struggling learners, including many who are mislabeled as disabled and dumped into special education. The majority of these students are not disabled in any medical or other clinical sense. Rather, in violation of federal law, they fail to receive proper instruction and fall farther behind, suffering stigma and segregation. Hettelman also shows how teachers are undervalued heroes denied the teaching tools to do the job right, and like students are victimized by the system. This book is a call to everyone to become enraged and then engaged in the struggle for reform.

The Normal Accident Theory of Education Andrew K. Milton, 2014-04-01. Much of the current debate about education too often resembles the blind men describing an elephant, apprehending only a particular part of the situation or the process. Many analysts tell an evocative but incomplete story. The so-called reform discussion proceeds with a lack of depth about the nuances and realistic limitations in the institutional order of school. This book argues that as regulation of schools moves further up the bureaucratic hierarchy, first to state departments of education, then to the national department of education, the legal and institutional requirements get more intensive but less concretely useful in classrooms.

This bureaucratization serves to tighten the organizational environment thereby increasing the risk of normal accidents The increasing governmental management in other words makes it more likely that schools will fail to meet their goals Analyses of education are too often developed for public consumption in a fast moving political world This book examines some of the deeper organizational reasons why things don't work so well in school as well as a look at some of things that do work Most importantly the book will explain how the social and cultural expectations of what schools can do may create unrealistic hopes We as a society and schools as institutions embrace these unreasonably high hopes at our collective peril Check out Andrew's latest interview with Seattle Radio <http://kiroradio.com/listen/9972862> West's New York Digest, 4th, 1989

Rethinking Value-Added Models in Education Audrey Amrein-Beardsley, 2014-04-24 Since passage of the No Child Left Behind Act in 2001 academic researchers econometricians and statisticians have been exploring various analytical methods of documenting students academic progress over time Known as value added models VAMs these methods are meant to measure the value a teacher or school adds to student learning from one year to the next To date however there is very little evidence to support the trustworthiness of these models What is becoming increasingly evident yet often ignored mainly by policymakers is that VAMs are 1 unreliable 2 invalid 3 nontransparent 4 unfair 5 fraught with measurement errors and 6 being inappropriately used to make consequential decisions regarding such things as teacher pay retention and termination Unfortunately their unintended consequences are not fully recognized at this point either Given such the timeliness of this well researched and thoughtful book cannot be overstated This book sheds important light on the debate surrounding VAMs and thereby offers states and practitioners a highly important resource from which they can move forward in more research based ways
