Physiologie Du Vendeur:

Physiologie du vendeur James Rousseau, 1960 Physiologie du vendeur James Rousseau, Henri Emy, 1842 Paris à Table Eugène Briffault, 2018-03-13 Described by Le Monde as the richest view of Balzac's time seen from the table Paris Table 1846 is an essential text in the history of gastronomy along with Brillat Savarin's The Physiology of Taste and Dumas's Dictionary of Cuisine Its author Eugène Briffault was well known in his day as a theater critic and chronicler of contemporary Paris but also as a bon vivant celebrated for his ability to quaff a bell jar full of champagne in a single draft and well qualified to write authoritatively about the culinary culture of Paris Focusing on the manners and customs of the dining scene Briffault takes readers from the opulence of a meal at the Rothschilds through every social stratum down to the student on the Left Bank and the laborer eating on the streets He surveys the restaurants of the previous generation and his own from the most elegant to the lowest dive along with the eating habits of the bourgeoisie the importance and variety of banquets the institutional meal and even the plight of people who do not dine artists and intellectuals who fell on hungry times He records the specialties the décor the patrons and the restaurateurs and their waiters A fine storyteller Briffault collected culinary anecdotes from the tantrums of a king deprived of his spinach to the tragedy of the friendliest pig that was ever seen The volume includes the humorous drawings of the caricaturist Bertall that cleverly reinforce the witty and ironic tone of the text Along with J Weintraub's introduction which provides the first modern biography of the author and analyzes the place of Paris Table in the literary culture of the time the text is copiously annotated acquainting readers with the events and characters that enliven the narrative Paris Table provides a delightful and delectable entryway to Briffault's Paris the city Walter Benjamin characterized as the capital of the nineteenth century Catalogue de l'histoire de France, 1855

Mastering the Marketplace Anne O'Neil-Henry, 2017 Mastering the Marketplace examines the origins of modern mass media culture through developments in the new literary marketplace of nineteenth century France and how literature itself reveals the broader social and material conditions in which it is produced Anne O'Neil-Henry examines how French authors of the nineteenth century navigated the growing publishing and marketing industry as well as the dramatic rise in literacy rates libraries reading rooms literary journals political newspapers and the advent of the serial novel O'Neil-Henry places the work of canonical author Honoré de Balzac alongside then popular writers such as Paul de Kock and Eugène Sue acknowledging the importance of low authors in the wider literary tradition By reading literary texts alongside associated advertisements book reviews publication histories sales tactics and promotional tools O'Neil-Henry presents a nuanced picture of the relationship between high and low literature one in which critics and authors alike grappled with the common problem of commercial versus cultural capital Through new literary readings and original archival research from holdings in the United States and France O'Neil-Henry revises existing understandings of a crucial moment in the development of industrialized culture In the process she discloses links between this formative period and our own in which mobile electronic devices internet based bookstores and massive publishing conglomerates alter once again the way literature is written sold and read Bibliographie de la France [formerly de l'Empire français] ou, Journal général de l'imprimerie et de la librairie ,1841 Catalogue de l'Histoire de France Bibliothèque Nationale (Paris). - Département des Imprimés,1855
