

PHYSICS

The cover features a complex, layered design. At the top, the word 'PHYSICS' is written in a large, white, serif font against a dark blue background with horizontal lines. Below the title, the cover is divided into several overlapping rectangular panels. The top-left panel shows a perspective view of a blue sky with white clouds through a series of nested, slightly offset rectangular frames. The top-right panel displays a series of concentric, curved lines in shades of blue and yellow, resembling a diffraction pattern or a stylized sun. The central panel is a large, dark blue rectangle filled with a dense, chaotic network of thin, white, curved lines, some of which form loops or spirals. To the left of this central panel, there is a smaller, lighter blue panel showing a perspective view of a blue sky with white clouds, similar to the top-left panel. Below the central panel, there is a horizontal band of light blue with a subtle, wavy pattern. The bottom of the cover features the authors' names in a white, serif font, separated by vertical bars.
