Targets, Tracers and Translation – Novel Radiopharmaceuticals Boost Nuclear Medicine Gerald Reischl, 2019-09-20 This is the fourth Special Issue in Pharmaceuticals within the last six years dealing with aspects of radiopharmaceutical sciences. It demonstrates the significant interest and increasing relevance to ameliorate nuclear medicine imaging with PET or SPECT and also radiotherapeutical procedures. Numerous targets and mechanisms have been identified and have been under investigation over the previous years covering many fields of medical and clinical research. This development is well illustrated by the articles in the present issue including 13 original research papers and one review covering a broad range of actual research topics in the field of radiopharmaceutical sciences. Hybridity in Translated Chinese Guangrong

Dai, 2016-05-20 This book investigates the characteristics of hybridity in Chinese texts that have been translated from English. It also explores the potential impact of translation and hybridity on written Chinese over the past 70 years. It suggests that English Chinese translations have introduced more and more hybrid structures into Chinese. This book can help us with understanding language change and development and it can also shed new light on the translation process and help identify translation norms. Bagetta, Maria Tiziana Corasaniti, Tsukasa Sakurada, Damiana Scuteri, Paolo Tonin, 2021-05-25 The Speculative Route Merve Tabur, Sami Ahmad Khan, 2025-08-29 The Speculative Route explores speculative traditions and science fictional modes across South and Southwest Asia and North Africa SSWANA examining their historical connections inter and intra regional entanglements overlaps and differences. Conceptualizing science fiction and fantasy SFF as a mode rather than a genre, this volume challenges the putative boundaries between literary and genre fiction through critical studies and essays focusing on SFF from Bangladesh, Egypt, India, Iran, Pakistan, Palestine, Sri Lanka, and Turkey. It demonstrates the ways in which science fictional modes of thinking and imagination function as critical tools for addressing social, cultural, and political issues beyond genre conventions and expectations. Bringing together articles by leading scholars of SFF and think pieces by acclaimed authors of contemporary SF, this volume focuses on central themes such as the relationship between aesthetics and politics, alterity, world building, memory, trauma, colonialism, and decolonization, ecology, gender, religion, and mythopoetics. It engages with the past, present, and future of speculative traditions in SSWANA and compares the visions that emerge from these seemingly disparate but historically connected entities. Part of the Studies in Global Genre Fiction series, this volume will be of great interest to academics, students, and practitioners in the fields of genre studies, notably SF, SFF, comparative literature, media, and popular culture, area studies, postcolonial studies, and future studies, as well as to readers who are interested in exploring SFF works from the Global South. Translating Healthcare Through Intelligent

Endoplasmic reticulum - shape and function in stress translation Patrick Schäfer, Lorenzo Frigerio, Federica Brandizzi, Stephen H Howell, 2015-05-05 The endoplasmic reticulum ER is a manufacturing unit in eukaryotic cells required for the synthesis of proteins lipids metabolites and hormones Besides supporting cellular signalling networks by its anabolic function the ER on its own or in communication with other organelles directly initiates signalling processes of physiological significance Based on the intimate and immediate involvement in stress signalling the ER is considered as sensory organelle on which cells strongly rely to effectively translate environmental cues into adaptive stress responses The transcellular distribution of the ER providing comprehensive cell to cell connections in multicellular organisms probably allows a concerted action of cell alliances and tissue areas towards environmental constraints At the cellular level stress adaptation correlates with the capability of the ER machinery to synthesise proteins participating in stress signalling as well as in the activation of ER membrane localised proteins to start cell protective signalling processes Importantly depending on the stress insult the ER either supports protective strategies or initiates cell death programmes Recent genetic molecular and cell biological studies have drawn an initial picture of underlying signalling events activated by ER membrane localised proteins In this Research Topic we provided a platform for articles describing research on ER morphology and metabolism with a focus on stress translation The Research Topic is sub divided into the following sections 1 ER in stress signalling and adaptation 2 ER structure and biosynthetic functions 3 Regulation of protein processing 4 Regulation of programmed cell death

Translation Mechanisms Jacques Lapointe, Lea Brakier-Gigras, 2003-07-31 Translation Mechanisms provides investigators and graduate students with overviews of recent developments in the field of protein biosynthesis that are fuelled by the explosive and synergic growth of structural biology genomics and bioinformatics The outstanding progress in our understanding of the structure dynamics and evolution of the prokaryotic and eukaryotic translation machinery as well as applications in medicine and biotechnology are described in 26 chapters covering recent discoveries on the subtleties of tRNA aminoacylation with natural and unnatural amino acids the control of mRNA stability a key step of gene regulation ribosome structure and function in the era of the atomic crystal resolution of the ribosome the regulation of the biosynthesis of the translational machinery components the action of a variety of inhibitors of translation and the prospect for clinical studies
