The Instructional Leader's Guide to Informal Classroom Observations Sally J. Zepeda, 2014-01-09 First published in 2008, Routledge is an imprint of Taylor & Francis, an informa company. The English Classroom in the Computer Age William Wresch, 1991 Written by middle school, high school, and college writing teachers, the 30 lesson plans collected in this book represent a mix of computer-based units for teaching writing. They cover many types of writing, from journalism to literary essays, fiction, and poetry, and many aspects of the writing process, from brainstorming for ideas to prewriting, warm-ups, electronic library research, revision, and desktop publishing. Most of the lessons in the book are adaptations of lessons used for years without computers; a small number of lesson plans in the book represent wholly new activities. The lessons in the book follow a set format designed to help readers quickly find out which activities are most appropriate for them and are divided into categories for students with little, moderate, or substantial computer experience. A directory of software and a list of contributors are attached. RS

The Road to Romance and Ruin Jon Lewis, 2013-12-04 This book analyses the teen film as the rare medium able to represent the otherwise chaotic and conflicting experience of youth. The author focuses on six major issues: alienation, deviance, and delinquency; sex and gender; the politics of consumption; the apolitics of youth; full rebellion and regression into nostalgia. Despite the many differences within the genre, this book sees all teen films as focused on a single social concern: the breakdown of traditional forms of authority: school, church, family. Working with the theories of such diverse scholars as Kenneth Keniston, Bruno Bettelheim, Erik Erikson, Theodor Adorno, Simon Frith, and Dick Hebdige, the author draws an innovative and flexible model of a cultural history of youth. Originally published in 1992.

Playing the Waves Jan Simons, 2007 Dogma 95, the avant-garde filmmaking movement founded by the Danish director

Lars von Trier and three of his fellow directors was launched in 1995 at an elite cinema conference in Paris when von Trier was called upon to speak about the future of film but instead showered the audience with pamphlets announcing the new movement and its manifesto A refreshingly original critical commentary on the director and his practice Playing the Waves is a paramount addition to one of new media's most provocative genres games and gaming Playing the Waves cleverly puns on the title of one of von Trier's most famous features and argues that Dogma 95 like much of the director's low budget realist productions is a game that takes cinema beyond the traditional confines of film aesthetics and dramatic rules Simons articulates the ways in which von Trier redefines the practice of filmmaking as a rule bound activity and stipulates the forms and structures of games von Trier brings to bear on his films as well as the sobering lessons he draws from economic and evolutionary game theory Much like the director's films this fascinating volume takes the traditional point of view of film theory and film aesthetics to the next level and demonstrates we have much to learn from the perspective of game studies and game theory     The Cumulative Book Index ,1976 A world list of books in the English language     Previews ,1979
