Population Issues Leo J.G. van Wissen, Pearl A. Dykstra, 2012-12-06 This volume marks the end of an eight year program of research on population issues launched in 1990 by the Netherlands Organization for Scientific Research The NWO Priority Program on Population Issues Initiatives for this program of research were taken over ten years ago by Hans Van Ginkel who became the first program chair and Dirk Van De Kaa The Dutch community of population scientists is deeply indebted to them for their early efforts At the time the program carried the name Between Individual Development and Social Solidarity Population and Society in a Period of Transition The goals of the Priority Program were threefold To reduce the fragmentation of research on population issues to increase collaboration among population researchers with different disciplinary backgrounds and to strengthen the position of population studies in Dutch academe and in international forums Looking back over eight years of programmed research we can safely say that the Priority Program has given an enormous impetus to population research in the Netherlands as this volume attests This program of research could not have been carried out successfully without the valuable contributions and constructive input of a large group of scientists The scope and the focus of the Priority Program were defined by a preparatory committee chaired by Gerard Frinking

Refugees in Europe, 1919-1959 Matthew Frank, Jessica Reinisch, 2017-09-21 This book is open access and available on www.bloomsburycollections.com It is funded by Knowledge Unlatched Refugees in Europe 1919 1959 offers a new history of Europe's mid 20th century as seen through its recurrent refugee crises By bringing together in one volume recent research on a range of different contexts of groups of refugees and refugee policy it sheds light on the common assumptions that underpinned the history of refugees throughout the period under review The essays foreground the period between the end of the First World War which inaugurated a series of new international structures to deal with displaced populations and the late 1950s when Europe's home grown refugee problems had supposedly been solved and attention shifted from the identification of an exclusively European refugee problem to a global one Borrowing from E H Carr's The Twenty Years Crisis first published in 1939 the editors of this volume test the idea that the two post war eras could be represented as a single crisis of a European dominated international order of nation states in the face of successive refugee crises which were both the direct consequence of that system and a challenge to it Each of the chapters reflects on the utility and limitations of this notion of a forty years crisis for understanding the development of specific national and international responses to refugees in the mid 20th century Contributors to the volume also provide alternative readings of the history of an international refugee regime in which the non European and colonial world are assigned a central role in the narrative

The Importance of Emigration for the Solution of Population Problems in Western Europe

Hilde Wander, 2013-11-11 This first publication of the Research Group for European Migration Problems is devoted to the importance of migration in Western Europe. Small wonder that especially German social scientists living in a country invaded by millions and millions of refugees and expellees from Central and Eastern Europe are paying so much attention to the solution of regional and national overpopulation. It is doubtful whether we can speak of European overpopulation in general. Dr Hilde Wander's investigations make it clear that from a European point of view short distance migration may solve many problems for which up to now overseas emigration to Canada, Australia etc. seemed to be the only remedy. Those talking about European integration there still is much that real action should keep in more discussion on this topic. Mind that the only way out of the present system of frustrations consists in economic and social freedom i.e. a free flow of goods, capital and migrating people. The Research Group for European Migration Problems is an international committee promoting the study of one of the crucial social problems rather neglected so far: a more effective distribution and spreading of the European population.
