top performance on all platforms Programming the Mobile Web Maximiliano Firtman, 2013-03-15 The market for mobile apps continues to evolve at a breakneck pace as tablets join the parade of smartphones and feature phones If you re an experienced web developer this second edition of this popular book shows you how to build HTML5 and CSS3 based apps that access geolocation accelerometer multi touch screens and other features in these mobile devices You ll learn how to build a standard app core that you can extend to work with specific devices You ll also discover how to deal with platform variations browsers native web platforms HTML5 compatibility design patterns for mobile development and other issues Learn how to use your existing web skills to move into mobile development Discover the particulars and pitfalls of building mobile apps with HTML5 CSS and other standard web tools Create effective user interfaces in the mobile environment for touch and non touch devices Understand variations among iOS Android Windows Phone BlackBerry and other mobile platforms Bypass the browser to create full screen and native web apps e books and Apache Cordova PhoneGap applications Build apps for the App Store Google Play Store Windows Marketplace App World and other online retailers Listening with Two Ears - New Insights and Perspectives in Binaural Research Huiming Zhang, Yi Zhou, Lina Reiss, 2023-11-27 Hearing is dependent on neural processing of acoustic cues obtained by the left and right ears Neural signals driven by the two ears are integrated at multiple levels of the central auditory system which enables animals including humans to perform various functions including localization of a sound source A natural listening environment typically contains sounds from multiple sources These sounds can have different spectral and temporal features and occur at either the same or different time Integration can happen among neural signals elicited by the same or different sounds The way of integration can greatly affect how individual sounds are sensed and perceived Functions such as auditory grouping and stream segregation which are central to establishing coherent auditory images in a complex listening environment are highly dependent on the way of integration Binaural hearing is complicated by individual differences and developmental changes in head and pinna shape size as binaural cues can be affected by these differences and changes Furthermore neural processing of binaural cues can be influenced by hearing impairments and the use of hearing aids and cochlear implants These factors likely require a listener to optimize the use of binaural cues through learning and to use plastic changes in the nervous system to perform the optimization Great strides have been made in understanding binaural processing in normal and impaired auditory systems This Research Topic aims to highlight some of the latest findings in the following areas 1 Animal behavioral and human psychoacoustical studies of binaural hearing 2 Neural encoding and processing of binaural cues and structural as well as neurophysiological bases of such encoding and processing 3 Contribution of binaural neural processing to auditory functions such as sound source localization binaural fusion binaural interference spatial release from masking auditory grouping and auditory stream segregation 4 Computational models of binaural processing 5 Learning and plastic changes in binaural processing following hearing loss or alterations of acoustic environment and structural as well as physiological bases of these behavioral changes 6 Clinical aspects of binaural processing including application of processing strategies including research on the benefits of bilateral cochlear implantation and the neural correlates thereof Index Catalogue of the Library of the Surgeon-general's Office, United States Army Library of the Surgeon-General's Office (U.S.),1889
