Jake Drake, Class Clown Andrew Clements, 2012-07-24 Knock knock Who s there Jake Jake who Jake Drake Class Clown

Miss Bruce is the new student teacher in second grade and she never smiles. Never. But when Jake cracks up the class during a spelling bee, he sees the tiniest hint of a smile at the corner of her mouth. Suddenly, Jake has a new mission in life: to be so funny that even Miss Bruce will laugh. But then things get out of hand and Jake finds himself in big trouble. Has Jake discovered too late that not everybody loves a clown? The Report Card Andrew Clements, 2012-04-17

Nora Rose Rowley is a genius, but don't tell anyone. Nora's managed to make it to the fifth grade without anyone figuring out that she's not just an ordinary kid and she wants to keep it that way. But then Nora gets fed up with the importance everyone attaches to test scores and grades and she purposely brings home a terrible report card just to prove a point. Suddenly, the attention she's successfully avoided all her life is focused on her and her secret is out. And that's when things start to get really complicated.

Partnering with Parents Mary Schreiber, 2019-04-01

Caregiver involvement is key to a child's reading success story and libraries are in the perfect position to provide the guidance needed for parents and caregivers to embrace their role as their children's first and most enduring teachers. Libraries offer many programs and services for children, but sometimes caregivers are left out of the equation, especially once children start school. Nevertheless, parents and caregivers are an integral part of literacy development and libraries are a great place for them to witness modeling practices and participate in engaging family programs that encourage early literacy. Mary Schreiber combines personal experience and professional research with the programming expertise of youth librarians from across the country in this guide for libraries looking to make an even greater impact on the level of literacy attained by the children they serve. In Partnering with Parents, readers will find a wealth of information on how to talk to caregivers about the different stages of a child's reading life, what books to recommend to excite both caregivers and children about reading, and ways to encourage parent and caregiver participation in library programming, with additional information on working with and providing programming for diverse families. Whether you are a veteran in the profession or brand new to working with families, you will find something in this book that will help you to make your library a more integral part of the education community.

Things Not Seen Andrew Clements, 2006-04-20

Winner of American Library Association Schneider Family Book Award

Bobby Phillips is an average fifteen-year-old boy. Until the morning he wakes up and can't see himself in the mirror. Not blind, not dreaming. Bobby is just plain invisible. There doesn't seem to be any rhyme or reason to Bobby's new condition, even his dad, the physicist, can't figure it out. For Bobby, that means no school, no friends, no life. He's a missing person. Then he meets Alicia. She's blind, and Bobby can't resist talking to her, trusting her. But people are starting to wonder where Bobby is. Bobby knows that his invisibility could have dangerous consequences for his family, and that time is running out. He has to find out how to be seen again before it's too late.

Things That Are Andrew Clements, 2008-09-18

Alicia may be blind, but that doesn't mean she can't see what's happening right in front of her eyes. Like how her parents try to give her freedom. Or how Bobby, now Robert, has returned to figure out their relationship. Or even the invisible man William and just how dangerous he is to

Alicia to Robert to their whole family or so the police say Or is Alicia wrong this time If her normally sharp instincts are wrong the results could be disastrous From award winning author Andrew Clements here is a novel full of adventure romance and mystery which at its heart is about trusting even things we know but cannot see Assessment and Student Success in a Differentiated Classroom Carol A.
