Political Translation Nicole Doerr, 2018-03-01 At a time when the legitimacy of democracies is in question calls to improve the quality of public debate and deliberative democracy are sweeping the social sciences Yet real deliberation lies far from the deliberative ideal Theorists have argued that linguistic and cultural differences foster inequality and impede democratic deliberation In this empirical study the author presents the collective practices of political translation which help multilingual and culturally diverse groups work together more democratically than homogeneous groups Political translation distinct from linguistic translation is a set of disruptive and communicative practices developed by activists and grassroots community organizers in order to address inequities hindering democratic deliberation and to entreat powerful groups to work together more inclusively with disempowered groups Based on ten years of fieldwork Political Translation provides the first systematic comparative study of deliberation under conditions of linguistic difference and cultural misunderstandings

South Africa, the Prospects of Peaceful Change Theodor Hanf, Heribert Weiland, Gerda Vierdag, 1981 The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art, 1858 Piety, Politics, and Power David D. Grafton, 2009-03-16 From the time of Martin Luther's writing of On War Against the Turk in 1529 to American Lutheran military chaplains serving in the U S led invasion of Iraq in 2003 Lutheranism has had a symbiotic relationship with Islam in the Middle East framed across cultural and religious borders There have been those who have crossed these borders to engage in mission and dialogue In Piety Politics and Power David Grafton examines the origins of the American Lutheran missionary movement in the Middle East with a focus on its encounter with Muslims and the varied Lutheran theological responses toward Islam The narrative is placed within historical contexts to provide an overarching background of Middle Eastern history and Christian Muslim Relations The survey covers Lutheran missionary communities in Persia Iraq Egypt Lebanon and Jerusalem and the West Bank including the work of the Lutherans working for the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions the Anglican Church Missionary Society the Lutheran Orient Mission the Lutheran Church Missouri Synod and the

Evangelical Lutheran Church in America Whether enthusiastic Pietists seeking the conversion of Muslims and Jews cautious theologians in dialogue with Islam Judaism or Oriental Orthodoxy or social activists working on behalf of refugees in Egypt and the West Bank Grafton argues that these Christian missionaries were all enmeshed in the politics of the communities in which they lived and either contributed to or suffered from the realities of Middle Eastern and international politics Given the current reality of Pax Americana in the Middle East the author asks the driving question about the role of American Lutheran missions and Lutheran Middle Eastern Muslim dialogue in the age of American power in the Middle East
