1 Introduction

The SWHi (Semantic Web for History) project is aimed at integrating, combining, and deducing information about early American history, based on the Early American Imprints, Series I: Evans, 1639-1800 collection, to assist general users or historians in exploring American history by using new technology offered by the Semantic Web. Although this project is initially limited to the historical domain, in the future its results can be applied to other domains and more heterogeneous resources.

This project is a cooperation between the Digital Library department of the University Library of Groningen and the Information Science department of the University of Groningen. The duration of this project is two years, from January 15, 2006 until January 15, 2008. The work is divided into three phases: identification, development, and releases. After each release, improvement cycles will be conducted.

I have worked in the identification and development phases. In this report I will explain my internship, the experiences I have gained, and a few things more.

1.1 Who?

For this internship, I have worked most closely with the following two persons.

1.1.1 Ismail Fahmi

Ismail is the main developer of the SWHi project. He has created the architecture of this project, e.g. the used tools and software. He is also a Phd student at the Alfa-Informatica department of the University of Groningen. He works for the University Library on Wednesday and Thursday, and sometimes also on Friday. I see him during these days. I have worked most closely with him on the SWHi project.

Undergraduate Public Health Education: Effective High-Impact Practices Andrew Harver,Katie Darby Hein,Terrel Lee Rhodes,2020-01-28 This current Research Topic does not derive directly from Boyer s Model of Scholarship but nonetheless represents a well timed exploration and example of where higher education has progressed in bringing the innovative integrative conceptualization of higher education scholarship and practice laid out by Boyer to realization through the growing arena of undergraduate public health programs At the same time the authors included here were invited to specifically address a second arena of scholarly practice associated with additional elements of Boyer's legacy effective High Impact Practices (HIPs) practices that engage students, faculty, and often broader communities in integrative learning that connect academic and extra academic learning environments. Undergraduate public health programs are perfectly positioned to provide a framework for integrated learning through High Impact Practices. Such practices encompass not only the essential learning outcomes that employers continue to demand: critical thinking, working with diverse others, written and oral communications, ethics analysis, etc., but also a curriculum that is scaffolded and replete with opportunities to practice and enhance performance and application of knowledge and abilities to important personal, social, and global challenges and needs.
