Herbal alternatives are being preferred over synthetic medicines nowadays, owing to the side effects exhibited by them. Preliminary investigations of the inhibitory potentials of Tinosporacordifolia leaf extracts against pathogenic bacteria and colon cancer cells were analysed in the current study. Phytochemical analysis showed the presence of various secondary metabolites in the crude leaf extract. Upon studying the antibacterial efficiency of the extracts, the ethyl acetate and methanolic extract showed maximum inhibition against Staphylococcus aureus and Aeromonas hydrophila. 68% of HT29 cells treated with the ethyl acetate extract displayed cytotoxicity. A ladder-like pattern was observed after DNA fragmentation assay was performed, hinting at the apoptosis induced by the ethyl acetate extract.

Key words: Antibacterial, Anti-cancer, DNA fragmentation, Cytotoxicity

INTRODUCTION

Plants are invaluable sources of pharmaceutical products (Sadqui et al., 2006) and are recognized for their ability to produce a wealth of secondary metabolites. Mankind has used many species for centuries to treat a variety of disorders (Olatide 2005). The complex secondary metabolites produced by plants have found various therapeutic uses in medicine. The early history of modern medicine contains descriptions of plant-derived phytochemicals, many of which are still in use for treatment (Rishon 2008). Traditional medicine refers to the knowledge, application, approach and belief in incorporating plant or animal based properties in remedies, singularly or in combination, for the purpose of treating or preventing disease as well as to maintain the well-being of an individual (Mouli et al., 2009). Tinosporacordifolia (Guduchi) is a widely used plant in folk and ayurvedic systems of medicine (Kavitha et al., 2009). It is distributed throughout tropical Indian subcontinent ascending from Himalayas down to the southern part of peninsular India at an altitude of 300m asl. It is also reported in neighboring countries like Bangladesh, Pakistan and Sri Lanka (Preethi 2011). The leaves are membranous, cordate and heart in shape.

The plant is well known, Indian, bitter and prescribed for fevers, diabetes, dyspepsia, jaundice, urinary problems, skin diseases, and chronic diarrhea and dysentery. It has been also indicated useful in the treatment of heart diseases, leprosy, helminthiasis and rheumatoid arthritis. The starch obtained from "guduchisatva" is highly nutritive, digestive and used in many diseases (Kirtikar et al., 1933). The bitter principle present shows antiperiodic, antispasmodic, anti-inflammatory, anti-fertility and antipyretic properties (Dahanukar et al., 1988). T.cordifolia has been reported to treat throat cancer in humans (Nisha et al., 2005). This plant also possesses antimicrobial activity against many pathogenic organisms (Verma et al., 2011). Cancer is the second leading cause of death (Hoyer et al., 2005), where one in four deaths is due to cancer. Cancer is a major public health burden in both developed and developing countries. It was estimated that there were 10.9 million new cases, 6.7 million deaths, and 24.6 million persons living with cancer (Parkin et al., 2002). The use of plant products in the treatment of cancer has been of recent interest (Bauer 2000). In the current study, the leaf extracts of the plant was subjected to phytochemical studies and its antibacterial and anticancer properties were recorded.

MATERIALS AND METHODS

Plant Material Collection

The fresh leaves of Tinosporacordifolia were collected from Irular Tribal Women Welfare Institute, Thandrai, Chengalpeta, Chennai, Tamil Nadu, India. The plant specimen was identified by Dr. Narasimhan, Department of Botany, Madras Christian College, Chennai. The collected plant leaves were allowed for shade drying for 4 days completely. The dried samples were powdered with electrical blender and made into coarse powder and used for further extraction.

Cell Line

The colon cancer cell line HT 29 was procured from National Centre for Cell Line Sciences (NCCS) Pune.

Sequential extraction

About 50 gm of dry sample was weighed and macerated with 200 ml of hexane separately and kept overnight in shaker. The extract was collected after filtration using Whatman No:1 filter paper and was stored. Another 200 ml of ethyl acetate was added to the residual mixture and incubated in shaker for 24 hours and the extract was collected again using a Whatman No:1 filter paper. This procedure was repeated once again with methanol and the extract was evaporated (Manjimalai 2011), which was used for further phytochemical analysis, antimicrobial activity and anticancer activity.

Sample Research Paper On Culture:

Organisational Culture: Concept, Context, And Measurement (In Two Volumes) Elizabeth Kummerow, Neil Kirby, 2013-09-12 In 1989 the prominent organisational culture scholar Stephen Ott lamented what he saw as the failure of the organisational culture perspective to have the kind of lasting influence whether empirical or in terms of its contribution to practice that had been hoped for In attempting to explain this state of affairs Ott observed that Some of the most important unanswered questions are methodological and without methodological advancement the perspective will not achieve maturity The situation today more than two decades after Ott voiced these concerns is that academics researchers and practitioners alike continue to struggle with the question of how best to decipher and measure an organisation s culture Organisational Culture Concept Context and Measurement In Two Volumes aims to encourage an agenda for organisational culture research that gives a renewed emphasis to methodological issues In pursuit of this aim consideration is given to both conceptual questions and questions of measurement In Volume I of the book the main focus is on the concept of organisational culture Based on an analysis and critique of existing treatments as well as a comparison of organisational culture with a number of closely related concepts consideration is given to how the concept might usefully be elaborated and further refined In Volume II of the book the focus is on methodological issues Drawing on the findings of a series of empirical studies conducted over a number of years consideration is given to what would be required to develop a measure for organisational culture that is practically useful and also capable of accessing culture at its deepest and arguably most influential yet most elusive level In particular an approach is advocated that seeks to contextualise organisational culture in terms of various time and experience domains and that also promotes the use of attributions analysis as a means whereby to further understand culture at this level A valuable resource for scholars and practitioners alike the book provides readers who are interested in understanding the role and influence of culture in organisations with a comprehensive analysis of the development and application of the organisational culture concept For readers who are interested in conducting research into the measurement and practical application of organisational culture the book provides a methodological approach that can be used to guide their research
