Political Metaphor Analysis Andreas Musolff, 2016-08-25 Political metaphors and related figurative discourse tools are characterised by their variability and contentiousness. Using them, discourse participants try to gain competitive advantage over others by offering their audiences new meaning nuances, challenging each other and announcing political initiatives. It is here that metaphor as a means to change meanings and thus to change social and political reality comes into its own. Political Metaphor Analysis provides an innovative approach to the study of figurative language use in political discourse by presenting empirical analyses based on a large corpus of political metaphors and metonymies, linking these analyses to theoretical positions and assessing their limitations and perspectives for further exploration. The classic model of conceptual metaphor analysis pioneered by Lakoff and Johnson (1980) and expanded and amended over the past thirty-five years is critically examined with regard to new findings about the variation, historicity, pragmatic exploitation, comprehension, and interpretation of metaphors. As a central new analytical category, the notion of metaphor scenario is proposed and tested against various sub-sets of data. It allows to link hypothesised conceptual metaphors to narrative argumentative and evaluative patterns in actual discourse and understanding processes so that their cognitive significance can be more reliably gauged and theoretically modelled.

Politeness in East Asia Dániel Z. Kádár, Sara Mills, 2011-09-08 We use politeness every day when interacting with other people. Yet politeness is an impressively complex linguistic process, and studying it can tell us a lot about the social and cultural values of social groups or even a whole society, helping us to understand how humans encode states of mind in their words. The traditional stereotypical view is that people in East Asian cultures are indirect, deferential, and extremely polite, sometimes more polite than seems necessary. This revealing book takes a fresh look at the phenomenon, showing that the situation is far more complex than these stereotypes would suggest. Taking examples from Japanese, Korean, Chinese, Vietnamese, and Singaporean Chinese, it shows how politeness differs across countries but also across social groups and subgroups. This book is essential reading for those interested in intercultural communication, linguistics, and East Asian languages.

Historical Chinese Letter Writing Daniel Z. Kadar, 2011-10-27 Daniel Z. Kadar was awarded with the Academy Award for Young Outstanding Scholars by the Hungarian Academy of Sciences for this book. Letter writing is a pivotal yet neglected medium of historical Chinese communication. The epistolary format is key to sinological research. As historical letters have a specific vocabulary and rhetorical structure, it is difficult to read them without the supporting apparatus of specialised study. This compendium fills the gap in Chinese studies by providing a bilingual Chinese-English edition of a corpus of Chinese letters prepared for advanced students of Classical Chinese as well as academics with an interest in historical Chinese epistolary art. The book has a broad and general introduction.

systematically constructed vocabulary sections as well as detailed grammatical and philological explanations It focuses on Qing Dynasty 1644 1911 letter writing a high point of pre 1911 epistolary activity in Chinese and will appeal to Chinese scholars and Sinologists at a broad range of academic levels

Toward a Motivation Model of Pragmatics Rong Chen, 2022-07-18 With the discursive turn has come a distrust a complete rejection by some of theories that seek deeper reasons for surface phenomena Rong Chen argues that this distrust with its accompanying overemphasis on specificity and fluidity of linguistic meaning and social values is unwarranted and unhelpful Drawing on insights from social theories and various strands of pragmatics he proposes a motivation model of pragmatics MMP contending that language use can be adequately coherently and elegantly studied via the motivation behind it in its varied and dynamic contexts The model with its well laid out components is then applied to im politeness research cross cultural pragmatics diachronic pragmatics discourse and genre analysis conversation analysis identity construction and the study of metaphor sarcasm parody and lying MMP is thus a framework aimed at accounting for fluidity with stable notions specificity with general principles and differences with similar underlying factors As such the book should appeal to students of pragmatics im politeness conversation analysis sociolinguistics applied linguistics communication sociology and psychology
