

Principal Carmela Leonardi's Huntington High School Graduation Speech - 2009

It is an honor for me to welcome students, parents, family members and members of the school board here tonight. A special thank you goes to the teachers who are committed to the success of every student and continue to take a personal interest in their academic and social development.

It has become my practice, in preparing for this important event, to reflect on the qualities and gifts members of the senior class have displayed in their four years at Huntington High School. I would like to share with you just some of their achievements and I apologize in advance for only mentioning a few. Members of the class of 2009 are service minded. In fact, many have raised their own money to fund mission trips to New Orleans, Nicaragua and the Dominican Republic. One of our students trains seeing-eye dogs. A number of our seniors achieved the very prestigious honors of Eagle Scout and the Gold Award which, as you know, require the implementation of involved projects that benefit their community. The class of 2009 has many gifted athletes who were recruited to participate on Division I athletic teams. One of our talented graphic artists created a mural commissioned by the McQuilling Co. in Garden City. Another of our seniors is such a gifted craftsman that he was able to build his own boat. He might be called upon to build us an ark in the very near future.

In these hard economic times, Huntington High School seniors nervously anticipated their financial aid packages, many waiting to view all

The Brevard Rosenwald School Betty J. Reed,2004-03-19 A century ago the Brevard Rosenwald School in Transylvania County North Carolina opened its doors to

African American students from the community and the surrounding area. It was a microcosm of the community it served; teachers and pupils lived on the same streets, shopped in the same stores, worshiped at the same churches, and teachers and parents served on the same committees. They confronted similar social and economic problems and sought each other's advice about issues in daily life. This book is a history of the school with special attention given to the years 1920 to 1966 and its attempts to improve the education of African Americans in the South. It also focuses on the school's beginnings, development, significance to the community, closing, and the integration process and the Rosenwald community today. The author also presents narratives from former students about their experiences and educational goals, pursuits, and accomplishments at the school and later in their lives.

It covers the history and development of the juvenile justice system and the unique issues related to juveniles, offering evidence-based suggestions for successful interventions and treatment, and examining the new balance model of juvenile court. This new edition not only includes the latest available statistics on juvenile crime and victimization, drug use, court processing, and corrections, but provides insightful analysis of recent developments such as those related to the use of probation, supervision, fees, responses to gangs, and cyber bullying, implementing the deterrence model, Project Hope, the possible impact of drug legalization, the school-to-prison pipeline, the extent of victimization and mental illness in institutions, and implications of major court decisions regarding juveniles, such as Life Without Parole (LWOP) for juveniles. Each chapter enhances student understanding with Key Terms, a What You Need to Know section highlighting important points, and Discussion Questions. Links at key points in the text show students where they can go to get the latest information, and a comprehensive glossary aids comprehension.
