Nonfiction Passages Native Americans:

Native Americans Common Core Nonfiction Leveled Reading Passages The Sweetest Thing, 2014 The Cambridge History of Native American Literature Melanie Benson Taylor, 2020-09-17 Native American literature has always been uniquely embattled. It is marked by divergent opinions about what constitutes authenticity, sovereignty, and even literature. It announces a culture beset by paradox, simultaneously primordial and postmodern, oral and inscribed, outmoded and novel. Its texts are a site of political struggle, shifting to meet external and internal expectations. This Cambridge History endeavors to capture and question the contested character of Indigenous texts and the way they are evaluated. It delineates significant periods of literary and cultural development in four sections: Traces, Assimilation and Modernity, 1879-1967, Native American Renaissance, post-1960s, and Visions, Revisions, 21st century. These rubrics highlight how Native literatures have evolved alongside major transitions in federal policy toward the Indian and via contact with broader cultural phenomena such as the American Civil Rights movement. There is a balance between a history of canonical authors and traditions, introducing less studied works and themes, and foregrounding critical discussions, approaches, and controversies. Nonfiction Strategies Grades 1-3 Debra J. Housel, 2002-06 Lessons detailing how to read, write, discuss, research, remember, and listen to information from nonfiction sources give students the meaningful practice they need to master nonfiction comprehension skills. Strategies are correlated to McREL's Standards. Indigenous Research of Land, Self, and Spirit Throne, Robin, 2020-12-04 Indigenous cultures meticulously protect and preserve their traditions. Those traditions often have deep connections to the homelands of indigenous peoples, thus forming strong relationships between culture, land, and communities. Autoethnography can help shed light on the nature and complexity of these relationships. Indigenous Research of Land, Self, and Spirit is a collection of innovative research that focuses on the ties between indigenous cultures and the constructs of land, self, and agency. It also covers critical intersectional feminist and heuristic inquiries across a variety of indigenous peoples. Highlighting a broad range of topics, including environmental studies, land rights, and storytelling, this book is ideally designed for policymakers, academicians, students, and researchers in the fields of sociology, diversity, anthropology, environmentalism, and history. Contemporary Native Fiction James Donahue, 2019-02-21 Contemporary Native Fiction: Toward a Narrative Poetics of Survivance analyzes paradigmatic works of contemporary Native American First Nations literary fiction using the tools of narrative theory. Each chapter is read through the lens of a narrative theory: structuralist narratology, feminist narratology, rhetorical narratology, and unnatural narratology, in order to demonstrate how the formal structure of these narratives engages the political issues raised in the text. Additionally, each chapter shows how the inclusion of Native American First Nations authored narratives productively advances the theoretical work project of those narrative theories. This book offers a broad survey of possible means by which narrative theory and critical race theories can productively work together and is key reading for students and researchers working in this area. The Native American Renaissance Alan R. Velie, A.
