

Challenges of the New Normal: Business and Government Through the Lens of the World Bank's Latin America & Caribbean Region

Given the global shift in the world after the COVID-19 pandemic, the World Bank's Latin America and the Caribbean Region has focused on providing off-grid lighting, solar power, as well as mobile phones to help the region's 300 million people access basic services like electricity, water, and sanitation. The region faces a critical need to further develop and expand its renewable energy infrastructure, as well as to increase its energy efficiency and reduce greenhouse gas emissions.

Nonetheless, methods of engagement against such challenges have shifted to incorporate governmentality.

What are other governments doing under different and other circumstances? How might governments... -- government officials... -- implement different types of measures? These questions are
