Additionally, the Nokia IP380 and Nokia IP385 support synched firewalls for "High Availability" environments, and come with the industry-proven hardened Nokia IPSO operating system with its web and CLI interface. Nokia IPSO offers a wide variety of "high value" features, such as Nokia patented IP Clustering. The Nokia IP380 and Nokia IP385 are versatile products, giving customers the option of a disk- or flash-based system. They both have excellent price/performance and can be used in diverse environments to protect small to mid-sized enterprises or remote branch offices at the same level as a corporate head office. These platforms are also ideal for small, stand-alone companies that require robust, large enterprise proficiency combined with ease of management and high reliability at a low Total Cost of Ownership.

Best of all, security, performance, and reliability are all backed by world-class Nokia First Call—Final Resolution global support.
