QUESTION The following table shows the number of people who attended the 2008 Summer Olympic Games in Beijing, China, and the 2012 Summer Olympic Games in London, England. The number of people who attended the 2008 Summer Olympic Games in Beijing, China, was 1.1 million more than the number of people who attended the 2012 Summer Olympic Games in London, England. How many people attended the 2008 Summer Olympic Games in Beijing, China?

Year	Number of people (in millions)
2008	1.1 million more than the number of people who attended the 2012 Summer Olympic Games in London, England
2012	1.1 million less than the number of people who attended the 2008 Summer Olympic Games in Beijing, China

ANSWER Let x be the number of people who attended the 2008 Summer Olympic Games in Beijing, China. Let y be the number of people who attended the 2012 Summer Olympic Games in London, England. The number of people who attended the 2008 Summer Olympic Games in Beijing, China, was 1.1 million more than the number of people who attended the 2012 Summer Olympic Games in London, England. This can be written as the equation $x = y + 1.1$. The number of people who attended the 2012 Summer Olympic Games in London, England, was 1.1 million less than the number of people who attended the 2008 Summer Olympic Games in Beijing, China. This can be written as the equation $y = x - 1.1$. Substituting $x - 1.1$ for y in the equation $x = y + 1.1$ gives the equation $x = (x - 1.1) + 1.1$. Simplifying the right side of the equation gives the equation $x = x$. This equation is true for all values of x . Therefore, the number of people who attended the 2008 Summer Olympic Games in Beijing, China, is 1.1 million more than the number of people who attended the 2012 Summer Olympic Games in London, England.
