Nomenclatural Poetization and Globalization Ankumah, Adaku T.,2014-10-20 This prolific collection of essays with contributions from scholars from across several disciplines on the practice and implications of naming Nomenclatural Poetization and Globalization explores diverse concerns in onomastics such as cultural and ethnic implications as well as individual identity formation processes in the age of Globalization and extends these to a variety of contemporary theories of appreciation and internationalization

The Repressed Expressed F. Ndi,T. Ankuma,2017-01-17 Through multiple points of resistance The Repressed Expressed underscores how hard it is to build a community in any nation with no beneficial qualities of hope and transparency This informative collection of essays highlights that wherever stability and order are lacking the universal appeal is to express that which is suppressed Also like a map or guidebook The Repressed Expressed indicates how people in such geographical prisons strive to transform their agitation into spiritual and political pathways free of pain and hurt from and anger towards a dirty and corrupted world It thus underpins discord and brings to the fore the authoritys penchant for heaping abuse upon those caused to live in fear In short The Repressed Expressed is an impressive compilation of literary evidence informing scholarship on opinions and beliefs relating to repression its expression and the immeasurable associated cost

Critical Perspectives on the Theory and Practice of Translating Camfranglais Literature Vakunta, Peter Wuteh, 2016-04-30 This study teases out the nexus between text typologies and translational paradigms Camfranglais fictional works are not canonical texts rather they find a niche in the corpus of peripheral ethnographic texts that require an interpretive approach to translational practice Translators of Camfranglais literature cannot but be like the texts they translate at once multilingual and multicultural Given the Polytonal and multilingual composition of Camfranglais literary texts the onus rests with translators charged with the onerous task of bridging communicative gaps to conceive models that are germane to the translation of these multi coded texts and Betrayals Ndi, Bill F., 2015-08-06 Secrets Silences and Betrayals is an invitation to readers to consider factoring in the often discarded or censored but useful information held by the dominated. The book's principal claim is that the unsaid weighs in significantly on the scale of semantic construction as that which is said. Thus it legitimates the impact of the absentee in broadening and clarifying knowledge and understanding in most disciplines. In other words, just as exogenous epistemologies have underlain and explicated the basis for understanding diverse encounters, social, political, historical, cultural, literary, etc. Secrets Silences and Betrayals challenges from a pluridisciplinary angle such highly dominant approaches to investigating the origin, nature, ways of knowing, and limits of human knowledge. It thus yields to the deontological basis to critically reexamine our understanding of the world around us. It is in this regard that the present volume points towards the need for human history to become a cumulative record and re-recording of every human journey and endeavor in life; it brings together disparate voices illuminating topical issues that would be or have been legated to posterity as nonexistent, partial, or half truths.

Gendered Violence and Human Rights in Black World Literature and Film Naomi Nkealah, Obioma Nnaemeka, 2021-03-30 This book investigates how the intersection between gendered violence and human rights is depicted and engaged with in African literature and films. The rich and multifarious range of film and literature emanating from Africa and the diaspora provides a fascinating lens through which we can understand the complex consequences of gendered violence on the lives of women, children, and minorities. Contributors to this volume examine the many ways in which gendered violence mirrors, expresses, projects, and articulates the larger phenomenon of human rights violations in Africa and the African diaspora and how, in turn, the discourse of human rights informs the ways in which we articulate, interrogate, conceptualise, and interpret gendered violence in literature and film. The book also shines a light on the linguistic contradictions and ambiguities in the articulation of gendered violence in private spaces and war. This book will be essential reading for scholars, critics, feminists, teachers, and students seeking solid grounding in exploring gendered violence and human rights in theory and practice.

Living (In)Dependence Bill F. Ndi, Benjamin Hart Fishkin, Adaku T. Ankumah, 2024-11-29 Living In Dependence: Critical Perspectives on Global Interdependence embraces a multidisciplinary approach to the interconnectedness of independence and dependence in every ramification of the words. These scholars and academics from different disciplinary areas examine independence, which rhetoric is aimed at legitimizing nationalist and isolationist positions and with exclusionists clamoring for walls separating people who supposedly live in a global village. Living In Dependence: Critical Perspectives on Global Interdependence is a timely reminder, especially when the world is at cross purposes with generation-old alliances falling apart like the Berlin Wall that less than 30 years ago fell to mark an end to sadness and separation that same engendered from 1949-1989. In short, this study explores the binary of life experience of independence and that of dependence as constituent flip sides of a coin whose meaning can only be grasped by taking a closer look at each facet.

Ramazani broadens his lens to discuss modern and contemporary poems not only in relation to world literature war and questions of orientalism but also in light of current debates over ecocriticism translation studies tourism and cultural geography

A Common Strangeness Jacob Edmond, 2012 Why is our world still understood through binary oppositions East and West local and global common and strange that ought to have crumbled with the Berlin Wall What might literary responses to the events that ushered in our era of globalization tell us about the rhetorical and historical underpinnings of these dichotomies In A Common Strangeness Jacob Edmond exemplifies a new multilingual and multilateral approach to literary and cultural studies He begins with the entrance of China into multinational capitalism and the appearance of the Parisian flaneur in the writings of a Chinese poet exiled in Auckland New Zealand Moving among poetic examples in Russian Chinese and English he then traces a series of encounters shaped by economic and geopolitical events from the Cultural Revolution perestroika and the June 4 massacre to the collapse of the Soviet Union September 11 and the invasion of Iraq In these encounters Edmond tracks a shared concern with strangeness through which poets contested old binary oppositions as they reemerged in new post Cold War forms Project Muse
