migrations The renewed interest in the formation and narrative of diasporas is evident across a range of disciplines Moreover the meaningful exploration of any aspect of the humanities and social sciences requires an inter disciplinary approach Thus is the aim of this volume Contributors approach the issue of diaspora from a variety of academic backgrounds sociology politics history literature and the visual arts Concomitantly data sources are diverse with contributors drawing on official government publications literary sources and personal memoirs paintings and photographs popular culture and personal interviews This diversity of data sources indicates the multifarious approaches to the exploration diaspora More importantly it highlights the critical role played by unofficial and often hidden narratives in representing the experiences of those who find themselves through a variety of political social and economic factors displaced This edited collection is a timely and precocious answer to a gap in the literature of identities and nationhood It is a response to the new challenges and opportunities facing diasporic communities and what is more sets out key pointers for rethinking diaspora in the twenty first century At a time when western states are facing the need to re evaluate traditional responses to ethnic difference arising from migration in the mid twentieth century this book posits an important perspective on the multiculturalism debate Contrary to previous political and scholarly assumptions this book shows that the children and grandchildren of immigrants can continue to have an ambiguous relationship to the state in which they were born in part because of the very nature of diaspora The enduringly complex and sometimes volatile insider outsider relationship is explored in these chapters through analysis of various narratives in textual spoken and visual forms Analysis of such hidden narratives reveals that the meaning and pertinence of membership of a diasporic community is defined as much by the context of the host country as by the discourses of the homeland Across their various sources and case studies the authors demonstrate the power of the juncture between dominant national discourses of the host state and the identity of its immigrants Each author notes how different the diasporic community in question would be not to mention the impact on its relationship to the host state and the homeland if some of narratives hidden over time were to be reclaimed As one author puts it flux in elements of identity formation in postmodern society represents a chance to engage in dialogue with our own diversity In constructing a coherent volume from such a diverse range of cases and disciplines the editors successfully demonstrate the wide validity of their case for rethinking diasporas Nonetheless the specific origins of this book a conference held in a border town in Ireland are it may be argued uniquely significant For the current process of change in Irish national identity is inseparable from central features of diaspora formation that the authors highlight including economic pressures Moreover just as the town of Dundalk has historically felt the effects of its proximity to Northern Ireland so the imagined borders of diaspora explored in this book are shown to be all the more powerful for the fact that their delineation is contested Katy Hayward Institute for British Irish Studies UCD

The Perception Machine Joanna Zylińska, 2023-11-07 A provocative investigation of the future of photography and human perception in the age of AI We are constantly photographing and being photographed while feeding machine learning databases with our data which in turn is used to generate new images Analyzing the transformation of photography by computation and the transformation of human perception by algorithmically driven images from CGI to AI The Perception Machine investigates what it means for us to live surrounded by image flows and machine eyes In an astute and engaging argument Joanna Zylińska brings together media theory and neuroscience in a Vil m Flusser Paul Virilio remix Her perception machine names a technical universe of images and their infrastructures But it also refers to a sociopolitical condition resulting from today's automation of vision imaging and imagination Written by a theorist practitioner the book incorporates Zylińska's own art projects some of which have been co created with AI The photographs collages films and installations available as part of the book and its companion website provide a different mode of thinking about our technological futures at a local as well as a planetary level Offering provocative concepts such as eco eco punk AUTO FOTO KINO planetary micro vision loser images and sensography the book outlines an existential philosophy of messy media for a time when our practices of imaging and self imaging are being radically redesigned Importantly it also offers a new vision of our future

Visual Communication David Machin, 2014-04-30 The primary goal of the volume on Visual Communication is to provide a collection of high quality accessible papers that offer an overview of the different academic approaches to Visual Communication the different theoretical perspectives on which they are based the methods of analysis used and the different media and genre that have come under analysis There is no such existing volume that draws together this range of closely related material generally found in much less related areas of research including semiotics art history design and new media theory The volume has a total of 34 individual chapters that are organized into two sections theories and methods and areas of visual analysis The chapters are all written by quality theorists and researchers with a view that the research should be accessible to non specialists in their own field while at the same time maintaining a high quality of work The volume contains an introduction which plots and locates the different approaches contained in it within broader developments and history of approaches to visual communication across different disciplines as each has attempted to define its terrain sometimes through unique concepts and methods sometimes through those borrowed and modified from others

Ruppert, Stephan Scheel, 2021-11-02 How EU data practices establish and assign people to categories and how this matters in enacting making up Europe as a population and people What is Europe and who are Europeans Data Practices approaches this contemporary political and theoretical question by treating it as a practical problem of counting Only through the myriad data practices that make up methods such as censuses can EU member states know their national populations and this in turn is utilized by the EU to understand the population of Europe But this volume approaches data practices not simply as reflecting populations but as performative in two senses they simultaneously enact that is make up a European population and by so doing intentionally or otherwise also contribute to making up a European people The book develops a conception of data practices to analyze and interpret findings from collaborative ethnographic multisite fieldwork conducted by an interdisciplinary team of social science researchers as part of a five year project Peopling Europe How Data Make a People The book focuses on data practices that involve establishing and assigning people to categories and how this matters in enacting Europe as a population and people Five core chapters explore key categories of people usual residents refugees homeless people migrants and ethnic minorities and how they come into being through specific data practices such as defining estimating recalibrating and inferring Two additional chapters address two key subject positions that data practices produce and require the data subject and the statistician subject Documents of Life 2 Ken Plummer, 2001-03-20

Stevens, Jonathan West, 2018 As a group of islands in the far south west Pacific Ocean New Zealand has a history that is steeped in the sea Its people have encountered the sea in many different ways along the coast in port on ships beneath the waves behind a camera and in the realm of the imagination While New Zealanders have continually altered their marine environments the ocean too has influenced their lives A multi disciplinary work encompassing history marine science archaeology and visual culture New Zealand and the Sea explores New Zealand s varied relationship with the sea challenging the conventional view that history unfolds on land Leading and emerging scholars highlight the dynamic ocean centred history of these islands and their inhabitants offering fascinating new perspectives on New Zealand s pasts The ocean has profoundly shaped culture across this narrow archipelago The meeting of land and sea is central in historical accounts of Polynesian discovery and colonisation European exploratory voyaging sealing whaling and the littoral

An Asian Woman's Religious Journey with Thomas Merton Jung Eun Sophia Park,2021-11-30 Join Jung Eun Sophia Park on her personal quest for God and her true self through the writings of Thomas Merton Approaching Merton as an Asian immigrant feminist in the postcolonial era Park s perspective is a unique one and in this dance sometimes it is her and sometimes Merton who leads Throughout Eastern and Western spirituality are organically woven together in reflection on Merton s narratives and in the examination of late capitalism poverty beauty and violence These reflections are insightful provocative and illuminating particularly with regard to his androcentric spirituality especially as it relates to his relationships with women

The Echo of Things Christopher Wright,2015-02-16 The Echo of Things is a compelling ethnographic study of what photography means to the people of Roviana Lagoon in the western Solomon Islands Christopher Wright examines the contemporary uses of photography and expectations of the medium in Roviana as well as people s reactions to photographs made by colonial powers in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries For Roviana people photographs are unique objects they are not reproducible as they are in Euro American understandings of the medium Their status as singular objects contributes to their ability to channel ancestral power and that ability is a key to understanding the links between photography memory and history in Roviana Filled with the voices of Roviana people The Echo of Things is both a nuanced study of the lives of photographs in a particular cultural setting and a provocative inquiry into our own understandings of photography

Analog Fictions for the Digital Age Julia Breitbach,2012 Shows how current photographic discourse can illuminate the analysis of recent literary realism and proposes a truly original photographic hermeneutics for literary study Both realist post postmodernist aesthetics in the twenty first century and the legacy of analog photography in its recent digital incarnation depend on an aesthetics of trust and a sense of contingent referentiality Julia Breitbach s innovative study demonstrates how current photographic discourse may be used as an illuminating critical idiom for the analysis of recent forms of literary realism thus proposing a photographic hermeneutics for the study of literature Along with a thorough critical investigation of both fields Breitbach offers a pioneering theoretical exploration of analog and digital photography based on recent thing theory which she then applies to in depth analyses of realist aesthetics in selected post millennial novels by Don DeLillo Michael Ondaatje and Ali Smith yielding fresh perspectives on the remediation between photography and literature in the twenty first century An original contribution to the study of contemporary Anglophone literatures with an interdisciplinary appeal this study will be of interest especially to scholars and students in Anglophone literary studies comparative literature cultural studies and media studies Julia Breitbach is Assistant Professor in the Department of American Studies at the University of Konstanz Germany
