System and Process in International Politics Morton A Kaplan, 2005 System and Process 1957 broke the mould in political science by combining systems game and cybernetic concepts in its theoretical formulations Since its publication serious research in international relations has needed to respond to the bold hypotheses that matched equilibrial rules with type of system Kaplan's life long interest in finding an objective basis for moral judgments had its scholarly origins in an appendix of this classical book which incorporated his understanding of philosophy and in particular the philosophy of science A second appendix on The Mechanisms of Regulation explored the cybernetic and recursive nature of knowing

Braumoeller, 2013-02-11 Do great leaders make history Or are they compelled to act by historical circumstance This debate has remained unresolved since Thomas Carlyle and Karl Marx framed it in the mid nineteenth century yet implicit answers inform our policies and our views of history In this book Professor Bear F Braumoeller argues persuasively that both perspectives are correct leaders shape the main material and ideological forces of history that subsequently constrain and compel them His studies of the Congress of Vienna the interwar period and the end of the Cold War illustrate this dynamic and the data he marshals provide systematic evidence that leaders both shape and are constrained by the structure of the international system International Politics Fred I.
