Ideas and the Pace of Change Katherine Boothe, 2015-03-27 Canada is the only OECD country that has universal comprehensive public hospital and medical insurance but lacks equivalent pharmaceutical coverage In Ideas and the Pace of

Change Katherine Boothe explains the reasons for this unique situation Using archival interview and polling data Boothe compares the policy histories of Canada the United Kingdom and Australia in order to understand why Canada followed a different path on pharmaceutical insurance Boothe argues that pace matters in policy change Quick radical change requires centralized political institutions an elite consensus and an engaged attentive electorate Without these prerequisites states are far more likely to take a slower incremental approach But while rapid policy change reinforces the new consensus incremental progress strengthens the status quo letting development stall and raising the bar for achieving change An important contribution to the study of comparative political economy Ideas and the Pace of Change should be required reading for anyone seeking to understand why health care reforms succeed or fail
