Robots Maggie Rosier, 2008-01-01 If emotionless monotones are all that come to mind when you think of robots, it's time to rewire your motherboard. Open this book and let the renegade robots within inspire you to build your own high-tech humanoids.

Robo Sapiens Japonicus Jennifer Robertson, 2018 Japan is arguably the first postindustrial society to embrace the prospect of human-robot coexistence. Over the past decade, Japanese humanoid robots designed for use in homes, hospitals, offices, and schools have become celebrated in mass and social media throughout the world. In Robo Sapiens Japonicus, Jennifer Robertson casts a critical eye on press releases and public relations videos that misrepresent robots as being as versatile and agile as their science-fiction counterparts. An ethnography and sociocultural history of governmental and academic discourse of human-robot relations in Japan, this book explores how actual robots, humanoids, androids, and animaloids are engineered in ways that reinforce the conventional sex/gender system and political/economic status quo. In addition, Robertson interrogates the notion of human exceptionalism as she considers whether civil rights should be granted to robots. Similarly, she juxtaposes how robots and robotic exoskeletons reinforce a conception of the normal body with a deconstruction of the much invoked Theory of the Uncanny Valley An Asimov Companion Donald E. Restoring the Human Context to Literary and Performance Studies Howard Mancing, Jennifer Marston William, 2022-01-28 Restoring the Human Context to Literary and Performance Studies argues that much of contemporary literary theory is still predicated at least implicitly on outdated linguistic and psychological models such as post-structuralism psychoanalysis and behaviorism which significantly contradict current dominant scientific views By contrast this monograph promotes an alternative paradigm for literary studies namely Contextualism and in so doing highlights the similarities and differences among the sometimes conflicting contemporary cognitive approaches to literature and performance arguing not in favor of one over the other but for Contextualism as their common ground
