Positive Emotional Attractor:

An Exploratory Examination of Positive and Negative Emotional Attractors' Impact on Coaching Intentional Change Anita D. Howard, 2009 Few research studies have tested hypotheses from an integrated multilevel theoretical model on coaching intentional change Drawing on Intentional Change Theory ICT and supporting cognitive emotion and social complexity perspectives on positive and negative affect this dissertation presents the first empirical investigation on the differential impact of inducing positive emotion vs negative emotion in real time executive coaching sessions Nineteen coaching recipients were randomly assigned to two coaching conditions In the PEA condition the coachees own hopes strengths desired future the Positive Emotional Attractor was the anchoring framework of a onetime hour long coaching session In the NEA condition the coachees own perceived improvement needs weaknesses present reality the Negative Emotional Attractor was the anchoring framework Two central ICT propositions were tested Hypothesis1 predicted that PEA participants would show higher levels of positive emotion during appraisal of 360 degree feedback results and discussion of change goals than NEA participants Hypothesis2 predicted that PEA participants would show lower levels of stress immediately after the coaching session than NEA participants Regression analyses found that the PEA group showed significantly lower levels of negative emotions p .05 and anger p .02 and focused more on personal interests and passions p .01 as compared to the NEA group These findings lend preliminary support to the proposition that framing a coaching session around a coachees PEA elicits positive emotions that broaden a persons momentary thought action repertoire whereas framing a session in the NEA elicits negative emotions that narrow this array Further demonstrated time series changes in expressed sadness or depression .01 and future .04 offer preliminary support to the ICT proposition that recurrent PEA NEA arousal and associated interplay of positive and negative emotion characterize intentional change The prediction on post coaching level of stress was not supported

The Impact of Shared Vision on Leadership, Engagement, and Organizational Citizenship Richard Eleftherios Boyatzis, Kylie Rochford, Scott N. Taylor, 2015-10-28 According to management and psychology courses as well as legions of consultants in organizational psychology shared vision in dyads teams and organizations can fill us with hope and inspire new possibilities or delude us into following false prophets However few research studies have empirically examined the impact of shared vision on key organizational outcomes such as leadership effectiveness employee engagement organizational citizenship coaching and organizational change As a result the field of organizational psychology has not yet established a causal pattern of whether if and how shared vision helps dyads teams and organizations function more effectively The lack of empirical work around shared vision is surprising given its long standing history in the literature Bennis and Nanus 1982 showed that distinctive leaders managed attention through vision The practitioner literature has long proclaimed that vision is a key to change while Conger and Kanungo 1998 discussed its link to charismatic leadership Around the same time positive psychology appeared in the forms of Appreciative Inquiry Cooperrider Sorensen Whitney Yaeger 2000 and Positive Organizational Scholarship Cameron Dutton Quinn 2003 In this context a shared vision or dream became a legitimate antecedent to sustainable change But again empirical measurement has been elusive More recently shared vision has been the focus of a number of dissertations and quantitative studies building on Intentional Change Theory ICT Boyatzis 2008 at dyad team and organization levels of social systems These studies are beginning to lay the foundations for a systematic body of empirical knowledge about the role of shared vision in an organizational context For example we now know that shared vision can activate neural networks that arouse endocrine systems and allow a person to consider the possibilities of a better future Jack Boyatzis Leckie Passarelli Khawaja 2013 Additionally Boyatzis Akrivou 2006 have discussed the role of a shared vision as the result of a well developed set of factors that produce a desired image of the future Outside of the organizational context positive visioning has been known to help guide future behavior in sports psychology Loehr Schwartz 2003 medical treatment Roffe Schmidt Ernst 2005 musical performance Meister Krings Foltys Boroojerdi Muller Topper Thron 2004 and academic performance Curry Snyder Cook Ruby Rehm 1997 This Research Topic for Frontiers in Psychology is a collection of 14 original papers examining the role of vision and shared vision on a wide variety of desired dependent variables from leadership effectiveness and executive performance to organizational engagement citizenship and corporate social responsibility and how to develop it through coaching
