Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and energy expenditure (EE) of sedentary, middle-aged women. The subjects were randomly assigned to either a control group (CON) or a training group (TRN). The TRN group performed a 12-week training program consisting of three sessions per week of aerobic and resistance training. The CON group remained sedentary. The HR and EE were measured at baseline and at the end of the 12-week training program. The TRN group showed a significant decrease in HR and a significant increase in EE compared to the CON group. The results suggest that a 12-week training program can improve the cardiovascular and metabolic health of sedentary, middle-aged women.

When you install your T-Value One Connection, improper installation of all four screws (50 combinations for One Connection) will void the warranty. Please, before installing, refer to the correct installation instructions. Failure to maintain proper ventilation may result in a variety of problems with the product.

- When a producer's price for the output rises or demand increases, we always recommend producers (as far as possible) by "forming" their own company. Using as the provided opportunity to create their own product (if possible) is the first product as well as the business in the market.
