Science and Technology Education and Communication Maarten C. A. van der Sanden, Marc J. de Vries, 2016-11-25 Science technology education on the one hand and communication on the other are to a large extent still separate worlds and many opportunities for synergy and cross fertilisation are yet unused This divide is unfortunate since educators need communication skills and communicators often use aspects of education in their strategies Moreover innovation processes in both domains ask for education and communication insights and skills Therefore scholars and practitioners in both domains must seek connections and synergy by exchanging insights and ideas This book discusses the shared aims of science technology education and communication such as science literacy and engagement as well as common processes and challenges such as social learning social design and professionalisation and assessment Aims processes and challenges that inspire enhance and deepen the education and communication synergy from a theoretical and practical side If one reads the various chapters and reflects on them from one s own perspective as a scholar or practitioner the question is no longer if cross fertilisation and synergy are needed but when are we seriously going to take up this challenge together This book aims to initiate the dialogue that the situation in the development of the topic requires at this point From Maps to Models National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Board on Mathematical Sciences and Their Applications, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Atmospheric Sciences and Climate, Mapping Science Committee, Board on Earth Sciences and Resources, Committee on Models of the World for the National Geospatial-Intelligence Agency, 2016-10-31 The United States faces numerous varied and evolving threats to national security including terrorism scarcity and disruption of food and water supplies extreme weather events and regional conflicts around the world Effectively managing these threats requires intelligence that not only assesses what is happening now but that also anticipates potential future threats The National Geospatial Intelligence Agency NGA is responsible for providing geospatial intelligence on other countries assessing where exactly something is what it is and why it is important in support of national security disaster response and humanitarian assistance NGA s approach today relies heavily on imagery analysis and mapping which provide an assessment of current and past conditions However augmenting that approach with a strong modeling capability would enable NGA to also anticipate and explore future outcomes A model is a simplified representation of a real world system that is used to extract explainable insights about the system predict future outcomes or explore what might happen under plausible what if scenarios Such models use data and or theory to specify inputs e g initial conditions boundary conditions and model parameters to produce an output From Maps to Models Augmenting the Nation s Geospatial Intelligence Capabilities describes the types of models and analytical methods used to understand real world systems discusses what would be required to make these models and methods useful for geospatial intelligence and identifies supporting research and development for NGA This report provides examples of models that have been used to help answer the sorts of questions NGA might ask describes how to go about a model based investigation and discusses models and methods that are relevant to NGA s mission Resources in Education , 1984 Technical questions and answers for job interview Offshore Oil & Gas Platforms Petrogav International Oil & Gas Training Center, 2020-06-30 The job
