

automatically if and when the economy picks up steam.

Money for states and localities, including for schools and for the holding of safe and fair elections during a pandemic, should be part of the package.

Put the package together and the legislation kind of writes itself. If only members of Congress can ignore the counterproductive ideas coming from the White House.

Workers, business need payroll tax break

While much of the American workforce remains at home, there are still many out there working hard to keep the lights on. America can't afford to continue providing massive unemployment payments to some, while leaving Americans who continue to work high and dry. The least we can do for these Americans is give them a payroll tax cut. Stimulus payments have been heavily criticized, but a payroll tax cut would provide direct relief to hard-working Americans and businesses.

As the economy begins to rebound, we should relieve us helping Americans as they return to work. In contrast to blanket payments and loans, a payroll tax holiday would boost incomes and provide businesses with liquidity. Letting people keep their money is the simplest way to get relief where it's needed most.

A payroll tax cut helps those who deserve it most — businesses that in many cases must remain open, as well as their employees. A payroll tax cut benefits employees by allowing them to retain and hire more employees.

A temporary holiday from the payroll tax achieves two goals, liquidity for businesses and added income for employees, while further stimulating checks back into the deficit and money never arrives. Most importantly, a payroll tax holiday is the best way to directly boost household incomes. American families' liquidity has been devastated by COVID-19, but additional monthly income would provide a significant cushion.

President Donald Trump firmly supports a payroll tax holiday. Congress should remember that as it considers another round of stimulus checks that is what people are not working. These days, we owe it to hard-working Americans to make their lives easier.
