Many books limit themselves by conceptualizing and theorizing about RAC technology, but this book is the first to portray implementing and administering an Oracle 10g RAC system in a Linux environment. This book features basic concepts underlying Linux and Oracle RAC design strategies, hardware procurement and configuration, and many other topics. The RAC-specific technologies described include configuration of the interconnect, OCFS, ASM, Cluster Ready Services, and Grid Control. The Oracle features RMAN and Data Guard are also discussed along with available hardware options. The authors include practical examples and configuration information so that upon reading this book you'll be armed with the information you need to build an Oracle RAC database on Linux, whether it is on a single laptop or a 64 node Itanium cluster. The author covers workshop implementation of services and the distribution of workload across instances with threshold definitions and the new load balancing algorithms. In addition, it includes detailed discussions on ASM that complements the implementation of RAC in Oracle Grid strategy. The book also includes discussions on new Oracle Clusterware, its components, and its integration with RAC. Oracle 10g RAC focuses on RAC-specific topics including ASM, operating system configuration, installation, and configuration of RAC, and much more. Coverage includes network configuration for high availability, FAN, TAF, ONS, implementation of maximum availability architecture, MAA, EM, Grid Control, AWR, ADDM, and other performance-related tools. The author includes several scripts for performance tuning and implementation that the reader can use to configure a RAC environment, either on a 2, 4, 8, 60, or 99 node configuration. Focuses on implementing, testing, and tuning features of Real Application Clusters RAC database version 10g Release 2. Provides extensive coverage of usage, day-to-day functions, and operations. Includes tips and techniques such as script samples to illustrate various features of RAC.
