The role of the teacher in problem solving

- The teacher's task is no less demanding because learners do the maths - It is actually very demanding.
- Teachers need to pick out high-quality tasks that will allow learners to learn the content by finding their own strategies and solutions.
- Teachers need to ask well-thought-out questions that will allow learners to modify and relate their strategies.
- Teachers need to listen to learners' responses and observe their work and, at the spur of the moment, determine how to expand and formalise learners' thinking.

Some people understand it wrong that we learners to work on our own. In fact, problems are to be solved, the necessary knowledge is to be learned. It is not that the teacher should not help, but that the teacher should not do the work for the learner. The teacher should help the learner to find the solution on his own. The teacher should not do the work for the learner. The teacher should help the learner to find the solution on his own.

1. Onderliggende probleemoplossing
