Building Blocks of Society James W. Cortada, 2020-11-25 The history of information is a rapidly emerging new subfield of history Historians are identifying the issues they need to examine crafting novel research agendas and locating research materials relevant to their work Like the larger world around them historians are discovering what it means to live and work in a world that increasingly sees itself as an information society Long a discussion point among sociologists economists political leaders and media experts historians are integrating their methods and research into the larger conversation This book proposes a way to look at the history of information and to history as a whole that is simultaneously relevant to observers in other disciplines and familiar to historians of business economics sociology and technology The author presents that advocacy in two ways with theoretical and historiographical discussions of what information ecosystems and infrastructures are and their value for this kind of research second through a range of case studies applying those concepts The wide range of case studies is purposeful in demonstrating the applicability of the ideas presented in the early methodological chapters Themes mentioned in each of the early chapters are consistently applied in all subsequent chapters This book breaks from the more traditional historiography of book history sociological and philosophical discussions about knowledge and society The first two chapters focus on the craft of the historian in this new field better known as historiography and methods Subsequent chapters are case studies showing what results when a historian writes about ecosystems and infrastructures moving our discussion from theory to practice The book is an important and substantive contribution to this new subfield an essential primer as well as a major statement for all historians on how next to evolve their craft

A Taste of Southern Fried Pride Jackie McMillon, 2025-08-19 MY DASH OF SOUTHERN WISDOM I have done so much with so little for so long I can do anything with nothing In the beginning I knew our family came from a long line of Southern roots Beyond that there is a link that is noteworthy to our long lineage The most evident is that we have a passion for life laughter and food We have regular family reunions Once a year we gather to laugh eat and celebrate life On more than one occasion I thought to myself Write a book So I have decided to take on the challenge
