New Shopping Malls:

China's New Retail Economy Shuguang Wang, 2014-01-10 Retail is the essential link between production and consumption. The dynamics of a nation's economy cannot be fully understood without a good understanding of its retail sector. This book is written to achieve three broad objectives. First, it provides a comprehensive assessment of the changes in consumption patterns in China, the current size of the Chinese consumer market, and the regional variations. Second, it presents an interpretation of the changes in the country's regulatory system and the corresponding policy initiatives, including the new state spatial strategies devised after its admission to the WTO. Third, it delivers a systematic analysis of the transformation of China's retail sector. This includes the entry and expansion of foreign retailers, the development of indigenous retail chains as a national strategy to modernize China's retail industry, and the changing retailer-supplier relations. This book is a useful reference not only for university students and faculty researchers but also for international retailers and commercial real estate developers who contemplate business and investment opportunities in China.

Acculturating the Shopping Centre Janina Gosseye, Tom Avermaete, 2018-10-16 Acculturating the Shopping Centre examines whether the shopping centre should be qualified as a global architectural type that effortlessly moves across national and cultural borders in the slipstream of neo-liberal globalization or should instead be understood as a geographically and temporally bound expression of negotiations between mall developers, representatives of a global logic of capitalist accumulation on the one hand, and local actors, architects, governments, citizens on the other. It explores how the shopping centre adapts to new cultural contexts and questions whether this commercial type has the capacity to disrupt or even amend the conditions that it encounters. Including more than 50 illustrations, this book considers the evolving architecture of shopping centres. It would be beneficial to academics and students across a number of areas such as architecture, urban design, cultural geography, and sociology.

Shopping Centre Development (RLE Retailing and Distribution) John Dawson, Dennis Lord, 2012-10-02 The shopping centre has become an established feature of urban structure over the past thirty years. Development of centres has been rapid and little attempt has been made to consider the development process and the problems caused by it. There is a growing awareness that centres are not always wholly beneficial to their host cities and that some public policy control is necessary. This book examines the shopping centre development process and analyses the control policies which have been taken and which are needed. It draws on material from throughout the developed world. First published 1985.

Navigating the New Retail Landscape Alan Treadgold, Jonathan Reynolds, 2016-06-24 The retail industry globally is in the early stages of an era of profound, perhaps unprecedented, change. This book is intended to serve as a robust and practical guide to leaders of enterprises tasked with both understanding and delivering success in the new landscape of retailing. The book firstly describes the major directions and drivers of change that define the new global landscape of retailing. Part 1: Accelerating technology change, the rise to prominence globally of internet enabled shoppers and the rapid emergence of entirely new retail enterprises and business models are combining to re shape the very fundamentals of the retail industry No longer are shops needed to be in the business of retailing No longer is choice for the shopper limited to the neighbourhood town or even country in which they live No longer is the act of retailing solely the preserve of traditional retail enterprises as internet enabled businesses technology logistics suppliers and financial services enterprises all seek direct relationships with the shopper The new landscape of retailing is an unforgiving one Success can be achieved more quickly than has ever been possible before but failure is equally rapid The opportunities in the new landscape of retailing are profound but so too are the challenges Part 2 of this book discusses the structures skills and capabilities retail enterprises will need if they are to be successful in this new landscape and the skills and perspectives that will be required of the leaders of retail enterprises Case studies of innovative and successful enterprises are presented throughout the book to illustrate the themes discussed Frameworks are presented to provide practical guidance for enterprise leaders to understand and contextualise the nature of change that is re shaping retail landscapes globally Clear guidance is given of the capabilities skills and perspectives that will be needed at both an enterprise and a personal leadership level to deliver success in the new landscape of retailing

Explorations in the Sociology of Consumption George Ritzer,2001-06-04 In this book one of the leading social theorists and cultural commentators of modern times turns his gaze on consumption George Ritzer author of the famous McDonaldization Thesis demonstrates the irrational consequences of the rational desire to consume and commodify He examines how McDonaldization might be resisted and situates the reader in the new cultural spaces that are emerging in society shopping malls casino hotels Disneyfied theme parks and Las Vegas the new cathedrals of consumption as he calls them The book shows how new processes of consumption relate to globalization theory In illuminating discussions of the work of Thorstein Veblen and the French situationists Ritzer unearths the roots of problems of consumption in older sociological traditions He indicates how transgression is bound up with consumption through an investigation of the obscene in popular and postmodern culture
